Debt Refunding Plan Proposed For Vancouver

Council Hears Suggestion From Mayor McGeer Interest Be Cut to 3 Per Cent and No Payment on Principal of $72,000,000 Be Made for Twenty-five Years; Copies of Resolution Sent to Premier King and Premier Pattullo

Canadian Press

Vancouver, April 17.—A proposal to refund Vancouver's $72,000,000 bonded debt at lower interest rates and defer payment of principal for twenty-five years was submitted to the City Council today by Mayor G. G. McGeer, M.P.

The proposal provides for a meeting of bondholders in Vancouver as soon as it could be arranged, to consider the plan or any other that might be developed in the meantime.

Mayor McGeer's plan involves reduction of interest rates from the present 4.65 per cent to not more than 3 per cent. This would result in a saving to the city of close to $850,000 a year, it is estimated.

Copies of the resolution will be sent to Premier Pattullo and Prime Minister King and to the finance ministers of the federal and provincial governments.

OTTAWA MAY REFUSE AID

Delay in Loan Council Plan Arouses Speculation as B.C. Seeks Funds

Indication from Ottawa that constitutional changes, including the loan council scheme, may be laid over for a year aroused fresh interest in British Columbia's financial negotiations with the federal government, as Premier Pattullo prepared to leave Vancouver by air for Ottawa.

The word from Ottawa was interpreted here as meaning that the federal government will not advance any more loans to the provinces, other than for relief. It is understood British Columbia has been refused assistance for its $3,500,000 maturity due on May 15, although negotiations are still open as far as the province is concerned. Premier Pattullo, after conference with his colleagues here, will resume discussions with Hon. Charles Dunning, Minister of Finance, on Monday.

Just where these talks might lead was still unexplained at the Legislative Buildings where a complete silence was maintained about the progress of negotiations. Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance, declined to discuss the issue or to answer if or how British Columbia would meet the May 15 maturity.

Financial markets had discounted rumor of B.C. following Alberta in default and the provincial bonds had strengthened so ewhat There appeared reason to believ B.C. would not have to default even if federal

FACED DEATH OR VICTORY

One Thing Or the Other Said Ordano Before "Finner" Test

William Ordano, Victoria adventurer, who crossed the Straits on Wednesday on his home-made "finner," will probably return to Victoria in a few days on the ferry Iroquois.

His sister, Miss Angeline Ordano, met the Iroquois this morning, thinking her brother might be aboard. She said he had no intention of returning on his "finner," although later in the season he planned to paddle from Victoria to Vancouver.

Miss Ordano said she was worried yesterday morning. Kind-hearted people phoned to offer her sympathy instead of encouragement.

"Before Bill left he said to me it would be death or victory for him," she said. "As you see it has been victory. I think of him in his own way as another Lindbergh.

Visit To Hospital Is Lesson To Reckless Drivers

Three More See Cadborosaurus

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur P. Dawe and Joe Smith Watch Famous Sea Serpent Off Uplands Early This Morning; Has Camel's Head and Blows.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur P. Dawe of "Cote d'Azur," Uplands, and Joe Smith, who is gardener at the adjoining residence of Carl Pfender, had a wonderful view of "Caddy" for five minutes this morning.

Mr. Dawe's lovely home is on the waterfront near the entrance to Cadboro Bay, after which Cadborosaurus was named. Early this morning Mrs. Dawe saw a strange object in the water close to their shoreline. She called her husband, who rushed to the nearby point with a powerful pair of binoculars.

"I sailed the seas for twelve years and I've seen all kinds of sea creatures," said Mr. Dawe this morning, "but I've never seen anything like this extraordinary creature. It came up off the point about 500 feet away and I had a splendid view of it with my glasses. It had something like a camel's head, and had three distinct undulations. It would dive and then come to the surface and 'blow.' When I heard the 'blow' I thought it might be a black fish and I studied it closer. But it was no black fish and it wasn't a porpoise or sea lion. It seemed to be feeding and stayed off our place five minutes, then dove and disappeared. Sure I believe there's a 'Caddy'."

Move Creates Surprise After Indication Nation Would Seek Revision of Treaty By Diplomatic Means

Canadian Press from Havas

Ankara, April 17. — Turkish troops today marched into the demilitarized Dardanelles zone, the Havas News Agency reported.

The reported move created a sensation in diplomatic circles here inasmuch as Turkey had officially indicated she would seek remilitarization of the Straits by juridical means and would not attempt to duplicate Chancellor Hitler's dramatic re-occupation of the Rhineland. It meant the Turkish government had decided to avoid all further delay in remilitarizing the zone, which had been barred to troops under the post-war treaty of Lausanne.

STAFF CONSULTED

It is understood the reported decision to march into the zone was taken after two important sessions of the Council of Ministers, presided over by Premier Mustapha Kemal Ataturk, recently had engaged in detailed discussions with his chiefs of staff and other military and naval advisers.

BRITAIN'S POSITION

London, April 17 (Associated Press)—Great Britain's agreement to enter discussions on Turkey's request to remilitarize the Dardanelles was given today in a note handed the Turkish ambassador.

The British government pointed out it must consult the Dominons, but that it was prepared to enter into discussions without delay, and that they

COLUMBIA IN FLOOD AT DAM

Associated Press

Bonneville, Ore., April 17. — The Columbia River kept up its assault on the Bonneville Dam today, but engineers expressed no concern over the $42,500,000 power and navigation project.

The swollen stream stood at the 31.5-foot level and continued to exert pressure estimated at 1,500,000 pounds against a key crib partially upended by the rapid water.

Engineers said there was a three and one-half-foot margin remaining and that work could be continued unless rains and melting snows sent the river to the thirty-five-foot level.

Attempt of Nations' Delegates to Stop Bloodshed Collapses; Italy's Modified Proposals Rejected by Ethiopia, Which Insists Negotiations Must Be Within League; Council Summoned to Meet Monday and Declare Its Position

By GEORGE HAMBLETON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Geneva, April 17.—Conciliation has failed. The war between Italy and Ethiopia continues.

The League of Nations maintains its existing sanctions, but no provision has been made for their extension. The Sanctions Committee of Eighteen, however, is to hold itself in readiness to meet at the call of its chairman, Augusto Vasconcellos.

Thus again in failure ends the League of Nations' efforts to secure peace in East Africa.

The Committee of Thirteen today discussed the impasse for a couple of hours, but could only formally note the failure of its efforts.

The Ethiopian delegation in a letter informed the committee that it could not accept Italy's "concession" on the Italian terms for peace in East Africa.

The League of Nations Council was called to meet next Monday in a special session to consider the situation.

OBSERVER PLAN

The Italians first said the stipulated negotiations with the Ethiopians must be direct and without the League acting as an intermediary. The Ethiopians refused.

The Italians then modified their stand to the extent that they were willing to keep the League informed of the progress of the negotiations, possibly through the presence of a League observer.

The Ethiopians declared the modification made no substantial change in the Italian proposal. They therefore refused it, adding they were ready to negotiate within the framework of the League in the spirit of the covenant.

PROVINCE HIT BY WARM WAVE

Rivers May Take Sudden Rise If Unusually High Temperatures Continue

In common with all other parts of British Columbia and the northwest, Victoria is experiencing a spell of delightful summer weather, which F. Napier Denison, superintendent at Gonzales, said this morning was rather early for April.

At Kamloops yesterday the thermometer rose to 82 degrees, and it was nearly as warm in Prince George and other portions of the interior.

If these conditions continue several days there will be a tendency of the rivers to take on a sudden rise as the snow and ice in the higher levels melts rapidly.

The maximum temperature in Victoria today was 67 degrees. A cooling breeze from the sea kept it from rising any higher. At Vancouver and New Westminster and other parts of the lower mainland it went to 70 and over.

The growth in Victoria's gardens in the last few days has been rapid. Because of a backward spring there was comparatively little growth during March and the early part of April.

The warm evenings Victoria has experienced this week have also been unusual for so early in April. There has been very little breeze and householders have been able to let out furnaces and leave their fireplaces dark for the first time in nearly six months.

Bathing has also become popular during the last few days, and if the fine weather continues over the week-end there will probably be a general exodus on Saturday afternoon and Sunday to the beaches and lakes.

Italian Airmen Machine Gun Palace Grounds; Several Persons Wounded

Addis Ababa, April 17.—Several persons were wounded when two Italian war planes swooped down on this capital today and blasted the grounds of the imperial palace with repeated bursts of machine gun fire

Bullets also sprayed the area for some distance beyond Haile Selassie's residence. However, no members of the imperial family were reported injured.

Earlier today two big Italian bombers had droned overhead and for half an hour unloosened a display of green, white and red fireworks on the capital.

KNOX WINS IN ILLINOIS TEST

Chicagoan Leads Borah By 68,500 Votes For U.S. Republican Presidential Nomination; Districts Go 14 to 11

Associated Press

Chicago, April 17.—Renomination of Governor Henry Horner by an estimated 155,000 votes and a victory by Col. Frank Knox over Senator William E. Borah of 68,500 votes in the Republican presidential preferential race were indicated today in a nearly complete tabulation of the Illinois primary vote.

The Cook County plurality of 110,294 votes for Col. Knox, Chicago publisher, gave him victory early in the state-wide vote, but belated downstate returns cut into his lead.

A count of 7,042 of the state's 7,426 precincts gave Col. Knox 462,505 to 389,816 for the Idaho senator, an advantage of eleven votes a precinct. The projected plurality for Col. Knox was 68,465.

Complete Cook County returns and incomplete figures from down state showed Col. Knox apparently winning fourteen congressional districts to eleven for Senator Borah. Knox took Cook County's ten districts and was leading in four downstate—the fourteenth, sixteenth, twentieth and twenty-fifth. In the fourteenth and twentyieth, however, the margin was small.

Seven Armed Men Raid Train and Rob It In New Jersey

Surprise Clerk in Baggage Car; Escape With Cash Totaling Only $956.55; Passengers Unaware Robbery in Progress

Associated Press

Nutley, N.J., April 17.—Seven bandits armed with sawed-off shotguns and revolvers looted the baggage car safe of an Erie Railroad train today in a daring morning robbery at a tiny station in the heart of a residential section.

First reports, obtained from Newark detectives, set the amount of the loot of $58,000, but subsequent official information was that the gunmen obtained only $956.55 for their trouble.

This figure came from state police, who said the loot was composed of one $500 package of coins, two $200 packages of coins, one $50 package of bills, and another package of $6.55 in coin.

State police said a package of X-ray equipment valued at $50 also was stolen.

CLERK SURPRISED

The money was in a safe in the baggage car, directly behind the engineer, in care of the American Railway Express Company.

Newark detectives said the clerk in charge of the money surrendered his revolver when four of the bandits, carrying guns, confronted him and threatened to kill him unless he opened the safe.

Moose River, N.S., April 17.—A complete emergency hospital unit, under the direction of Dr. H. K. MacDonald, widely-known Halifax surgeon, was standing by at Halifax today while eager miners saw a passage opening that may lead with comparatively little difficulty to three men buried in the Moose River Gold Mine since Sunday evening.

Dr. MacDonald was ready with an assistant and three nurses to lend aid if Dr. D. E. Robertson, well-known Toronto surgeon; Herman R. Magill, Toronto barrister, and Alfred Scadding, also of Toronto, are returned alive from their fourteen-foot deep prison

Four experienced northern Ontario miners were expected here late this afternoon, just before a second blast to clear a new entrance to the dangerous Meagher slope. The miners arrived at Halifax by airplane from Moncton and were proceeding here by automobile.

"The next blast may drive through," H. C. M. Gordon, assistant mining engineer of the Acadia Coal Company, said after inspecting the shaft down to the old Meagher slope.

Improvement Tax Boost Is Urged

Increase of Levy to 75 Per Cent Is Suggested By Ald. Brown at Estimates Meeting; Failure to Increase Mill Rate Gradually Criticized

Increase of the city's improvement levy up to 75 per cent of the assessed value as permitted by the Municipal Act and the budgeting this year for an anticipated deficit, was recommended by Ald. F. R. Brown, chairman of the finance committee, to a special estimates meeting of the City Council this afternoon.

In a prepared statement Mr. Brown reviewed the city's finances during the last few years and was generally critical of the failure of former councils to increase the tax rate gradually, instead of maintaining it at the same level, until it reached the point this year where there was possibility of having to put into effect a jump of seventeen mills.

In recommending increase of the improvement levy to 75 per cent Mr. Brown said this would produce about $178,192 extra, still leaving a shortage of $201,553. He felt expenditures could be further reduced by $51,000 which would leave only $150,000 still to find.

"In order to hold your mill rate to forty-one mills as it was last year, taxing land at 100 per cent and improvements 60 per cent, it is necessary for you to find the sum of ap-

BEAUHARNOIS ECHOES HEARD

R. O. Sweezey and Company Ask Montreal Court Reverse Payment Order

Montreal, April 17.—Lobbying in Ottawa in 1927 to get governmental blessing for the then projected Beauharnois power development was discussed in the Quebec Court of Appeal yesterday as Robert O. Sweezey, original promoter of the venture, and the Beauharnois Power Corporation asked reversal of a Superior Court judgment ordering payment of a $50,000 fee to heirs of the late C. Winfield B. Sifton.

The hearing continued today.

Clifford Sifton and Henry Sifton, brothers of C. W. B. Sifton and executors of his estate, obtained a judgment from Mr. Justice Mackinnon in Superior Court ordering Sweezey to pay the $50,000 with interest of more than $3,000. The court ruled, however, the Beauharnois Power Corporation was to reimburse Sweezey.

While the Beauharnois canal was still a blueprint, Sweezey, a Montreal engineer, retained the services of Sifton, son of Sir Clifford Sifton, so that he could, as counsel stated yesterday, use his influence and talent to have Dominion engineers approve the plans and ultimately secure the approval of the Dominion Government.

"A lobbyist?" suggested Mr. Justice Bond.

"Yes," replied Errol Languedoc K.C., counsel for Sweezey.

WAS PAID $29,000

Sweezey engaged Sifton to exercise his influence and render aid in having the power plans approved with the understanding, the court was told, he would get a $50,000 retainer if the government approved the project and in the meantime $100 a day expense money, with an immediate fee of $5,000. In nine months, said Mr. Languedoc, Sifton was paid a total of $29,000. Sifton had experience in affairs of the sort before, for the proposed Georgian Bay Canal, counsel said.

No man in his sane mind, said counsel, would undertake to pay $50,000 under conditions alleged by Sifton's heirs. Their contention was once Sifton had been retained, even if he died before completion of his work, or the plans fell through, they could tackle the promoter years later and collect their money.

Sir Mathias Tellier, chief justice, said the plans had been actually approved and the canal and power development apparently in operation.

RIVER FLOODS FARM AREA

Agrarians Near Portage la Prairie, Man., Lose Number of Horses

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, April 17. — Manitoba's most serious flood area shifted back to the banks of the Assiniboine River today in the Portage la Prairie district, sixty miles west of Winnipeg.

An ice jam pushed the river over its banks, flooded farmlands, drowned horses, uprooted trees and drove several families from their homes.

Farther west, at Brandon, 140 miles west of Winnipeg, the Assiniboine was returning to normal and families were returning to their homes. Conditions were still acute in the Dauphin-Sifton district 200 miles north of Winnipeg, where freshets from the Duck Mountains are causing floods.

IN ALBERTA

Flood conditions in Alberta and Saskatchewan showed improvement. At Edmonton, the White Mud Creek ripped out a 120-foot trestle bridge and flooded portions of the city's outskirts. Red Deer, halfway point between Edmonton and Calgary, anxiously watched the turbulent Red Deer River and Waskasoo Creek. The South Saskatchewan and Moose Jaw Rivers in the vicinity of Moose Jaw, were receding.

Mr. Ordano, who was tired after his walk into Port Angeles yesterday, following his night in the woods, is visiting friends in Port Angeles. He told them he would paddle his "finner" from Freshwater Bay, where he landed, to Port Angeles, a distance of nine miles, on Sunday or Monday, then ship it to Victoria.

ADVERSE WINDS

All the way across the Straits Ordano was bucked by adverse winds. At one time he was driven against Race Rocks after his craft had become water-logged. He kept on going, not bothering to call to the lightkeeper, who failed to see him. He was driven nine miles out of his course, and in all paddled about twenty-seven miles in his flimsy craft.

Warning to Italy On Red Cross

Britain Asks Pledge Against Bombing of Medical Units in Ethiopia

By GEORGE HAMBLETON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Geneva, April 17. — Sir Eric Drummond, British ambassador at Rome, presented a note to the Italian Government requesting a categorical assurance that bombing of British Red Cross units in Ethiopia shall cease, it was made known here today.

Britain also reserves the right to claim compensation for heavy material losses suffered by British ambulance services. The corespondence on this question was published by the League of Nations.

NO FIRING FROM GROUND

The British note rejects the claim contained in the Italian aide-memoire that an Italian plane was subjected to anti-aircraft fire from the neighborhood of a British Red Cross unit. It declares the British Government is unable to understand how any trained military air observer can ever have harbored illusions as to the identity of the Red Cross unit.

The note charges that according to reports received from the medical officer in charge, Red Cross lorries were deliberately bombed between Quoram and Alamata on March 3 last.

FOUR PATIENTS KILLED

Further charges were set forth as follows: A British ambulance camp two miles east of Lake Ashangi was deliberately bombed, with four patients killed and several wounded on March 4. The material damage was so large the ambulance had to be withdrawn for re-equipment. On March 6 the derelict campsite was bombed for a fourth time.

"On reliable evidence available to them," the British note adds, "evidence which it is understood has been substantiated by photographs taken on the spot at the time of the first raid, His Majesty's Government can only regard the pretentious advances contained in the letter of Signor Suvich (Fulvio Suvich, Italian Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs) and the aide-memoire which accompanied it, as due to the not unnatural desire of the officers responsible for the raids on the British ambulance to present excuses for their actions."

New Defence Plans Drafted

British, French and Belgian General Staffs Complete Talks in London

Canadian Press from Havas

London, April 17.—Concluding formalities were all that remained today in the consultations among the British, French and Belgian general staffs on plans to guarantee the security of the conferees against any unprovoked aggression by Germany pending final settlement of the Rhineland situation.

The main work of the conference was concluded yesterday, after two days of discussion among army, navy and air authorities. Observers were surprised at the sudden conclusion of the talks.

BRITAIN'S SHARE

Although the utmost secrecy surrounded the sessions, it was learned from unusually reliable sources that Great Britain's share in defensive measures in fulfilment of its Locarno obligations would be concentrated in air and sea activities.

The consultations were concluded at a general meeting of the representatives of all branches of the services after the aviation, naval and military experts had met in a series of separate conferences.

MANY PASSENGERS

Two passenger cars were crowded with late commuters and shoppers, but no one in these cars apparently was aware the robbery was taking place.

Nutley, scene of the robbery, is a suburb of Newark.

The engineer of the train told police he saw the seven men board the train and thought they were passengers.

The brakeman told detectives he saw one of the men pull the air brake, and thought something must be wrong.

But in the baggage car the first hint that anything was wrong came when four of the men suddenly shoved their way into the place with drawn guns.

TENSION IN JUGOSLAVIA

Nine Persons Killed By Enraged Croat Peasants Near Zagreb

Associated Press

Belgrade, Jugoslavia, April 17.—Intense excitement raged throughout Jugoslavia today following the killing of nine persons, including a woman and a girl, by enraged Croat peasants at Kerestinets, near Zagreb, yesterday.

The slayings were regarded as due to the friction between Croats and Serbs, which caused the assassination of a deputy April 10 and other killings.

Peasants of many villages in Lika province attended requiem masses for these victims.

On its way home from mass at the village of Syetanedelya, one group learned that seven men supposed to be Chetniks (provocateurs) were in the castle of Anton Mlehajlovich, former governor of the province.

The peasants went to the castle gates and demanded the former governor give up the men, saying they feared the seven wanted to kill a certain Croat deputy.

The former governor, although sixty-five years old, refused the peasants permission to enter his castle in search of his guests. The peasant group were reinforced with several hundred more people later.

BROKE WAY IN

Finally, shooting started and the group, swelled to a mob, smashed its way into the castle. Its members clubbed the former governor and pursued their quarry through the ancient rambling residence.

The seven Chetniks finally were cornered in a bathroom. Six of them were killed outright and the bodies thrown from windows. The seventh was seriously injured.

The mob left the castle and, on its way home, passed the home of a former Chetnik, who, mob leaders alleged, fired into the crowd.

The mob broke into his house, killed him, his wife and their seventeen-year-old daughter, then burned the house down.

Several peasants, wounded by gunfire, were brought to a Zagreb hospital today.

GROUPS UNITE FOR ELECTION

People's Front Campaigns in French Chamber Contest; Rightists Show Gaps

Canadian Press from Havas

Paris, April 17.—With the French election only ten days away, the People's front appears to have achieved some semblance of unity, while the various elements comprising the right wing still lack cohesion.

These two broad groupings are by no means well-defined, and their make-up will be modified considerably by the possible success at the polls of numerous individual groups. It is even possible these unaffiliated candidates will represent a powerful factor in the new Chamber of Deputies.

CO-OPERATION WITH LEAGUE

Except for a number of "old guard" radicals who cling to the ancient tradition, the main adherents of the People's Front are using similar tactics and advancing parallel platforms in the campaign. This programme, in its general lines, can be outlined as follows:

1. A fight against unemployment and the budgentary deficit by democratic methods.

2. A campaign against war based on co-operation with the League of Nations, the Little Entente (Czechoslovakia, Roumania and Jugoslavia) and the Soviet Union, aligned in united opposition to Germany.

3. A war on domestic Fascism through suppression of the Croix de Feu and the semi-military political leagues.

Although there are local divergencies from this main course, it holds sufficient sway to be considered the general position of the People's Front.

DIFFICULTIES OF RIGHT

A certain hesitancy is noticeable in the ranks of the right. In that group the greatest unity is evidenced by the Catholic element dominating the popular Domestic Party.

The "dark horses" are the enigma of the present campaign. There is a considerable number of independents whose personal hold remains strong. These men probably will form the centre group of the new chamber.

Polling will be held April 26, with the second group of polls on May 3.

EXTRADITION OF TWO ASKED

Men, Cousins, Held in Paris on Charge of Big Theft in New York

Associated Press

Paris, April 17.—Two cousins, both of whom said they did not know what it was all about, were held today by the Paris police on a charge of being connected with the theft of $1,507,938 in securities January 28, 1935, from a New York bank runner.

The cousins gave their names as Bernard Klein, thirty-nine, Hungarian, and Jacob Schwartz, thirty-four, Czech.

Paris police officials said they had been trailing the two men for weeks, and that they had recovered $440,000 in United States Treasury certificates from them.

GIVEN TO HIM

Klein told the police the securities were given him in London, his permanent residence, by a man who promised him a 40 per cent commission for their sale.

Schwartz protested Klein merely had handed him envelopes, and he was ignorant of what they contained until the police abstracted $10,000 in securities from them.

In New York a spokesman for Police Commissioner Lewis J. Valentine said the "tip" which led to the arrest of the two suspects in France had come from a beautiful woman with a villa in Monte Carlo and from the Prince of Monaco.

Detective Henry Oswald, it was announced, would sail for Paris tomorrow to investigate the movements of the Czechoslovakian and the Hungarian.

Arrest of a third man, David Frank of New York, on March 1, charged with conspiracy in an attempt to sell $245,000 of stolen securities, was a step in the police investigation, it was revealed. At the same time it was said arrest of an American man and woman in Paris is expected at any time.

EIGHT ARRAIGNED

These developments came as Federal authorities arraigned eight men on charges growing out of the "phantom" theft of $590,000 in United States Treasury notes from a bank teller's cage in December, 1935.

The $1,507,938 theft was carried out when George Blossfield, runner of the Bank of Manhattan, was making a delivery of other items to the Wall Street office of C. J. Divine. As in the $590,000 theft, they simply vanished while the runner's back was turned.

RIOT CHARGES WITHDRAWN

Basis for the withdrawal of the rioting charges was that no proof had been tendered "there was a common purpose" in the assembly on Market Square July 1.

Rioting is defined as "an unlawful assembly which has begun to disturb the peace tumultuously." Among the main ingredients to form the offence of an unlawful assembly is assembly with "intent to carry out a common purpose" and in such a manner as to arouse fears that a disturbance of the peace will occur.

The charge of assault occasioning bodily harm to Royal Canadian Mounted Police Constable A. W. Francis against the two accused is proceeding.

National Harbor Board Opposed

Canadian Press

Vancouver, April 17. — Vancouver City Council today passed a resolution "condemning" the projected national board of harbor commissioners after Mayor G. G. McGeer had criticized the move as "the most unwise thing the Dominion Government ever proposed."

The resolution requested members of parliament for British Columbia constituencies to oppose the legislation. Copies will be sent to the Prime Minister and Hon. C. D. Howe.

Mayor McGeer criticized the proposed board on the ground it would leave the port of Vancouver subject to control of a body that "can be 100 per cent political."

No More Than $100 a Week For Mrs. Vallee

Associated Press

New York, April 17.—The appellate division upheld today a decision denying Mrs. Fay Webb Vallee the right to break a $100-a-week separation agreement so she might demand a larger income from her husband, Rudy Vallee.

Mrs. Vallee began her action in November, 1933, contending the orchestra leader had misrepresented his financial status when he settled the $100 a week on her.

ITALIANS' PLAN

Associated Press

Rome, April 17.—The Italian high command, sources close to the government disclosed today, intends to proceed resolutely in taking Addis Ababa and smashing Haile Selassie's empire, prepared to face any international consequences.

Fascists rejoiced at reports their East African armies were at last "actually on the road to Addis Ababa."

Military sources said all signs pointed toward a transfer of peace negotiations from Geneva to the field headquarters of Marshal Badoglio, Fascist commander-in-chief.

WATCHING BRITAIN

The Fascist high command, sources close to the government said, believed capture of Addis Ababa would force Great Britain to disclose that British interests, rather than League of Nations principles, were behind its opposition to the Italian campaign.

Premier Mussolini's government, these sources indicated, would carry on firmly, nevertheless, despite the outcome of the deliberations of the League's Conciliation Committee of Thirteen and the possible undertakings of the Sanctions Committee of Eighteen.

CHIEFTAINS MEET

Associated Press

Addis Ababa, April 17. — Tribal chieftains and cabinet ministers of Ethiopia met in a secret session at the Imperial Palace today as government officials conceded the situation on the northern front critical.

Foreign Minister Belaten Gueta Herouy, acting head of the government in the absence of Emperor Haile Selassie, summoned the leaders of the beleaguered nation to the meeting.

Government officials said the situation was serious, in view of advances by the invading Italian armies, but insisted it was not yet hopeless.

"The government today is more active than ever," one high official told the Associated Press.

The exact location of the general Ethiopian headquarters on the northern front was not disclosed, but Emperor Haile Selassie was known to be in communication with Addis Ababa.

ON SOUTHERN FRONT

The government claimed it holds the upper hand in Borona and Ogaden provinces on the southern front.

The Emperor's troops are making efforts to stem the Italian advance in the north, and believe they can halt the Italian drive successfully by taking advantage of natural barriers south of Dessye.

The government pointed out also the disadvantages to the invaders of operating during the rainy season.

Emperor Haile Selassie and Crown Prince Asfa Wosan still were leading the troops in the north, the government officials said. The Emperor telephoned the capital yesterday after several days of silence.

The Dessye-Addis Ababa road was said to be in such bad condition from early rains and the fact virtually all wooden bridges were destroyed last November, that the journey by automobile was estimated to require eight days.

Dispatches from Rome yesterday said the Italian forces expected to be in Addis Ababa within three days.

League Admits Peace Effort Failure

Haile Selassie's territories. It also will prepare its final report for the special meeting of the Council, Monday.

It will remain for the Council to reaffirm the policy of the League in the dispute that the existing sanctions remain.

Experts of the Sanctions committee of eighteen also will meet to consider the effect of existing sanctions, and what they can do to close any loopholes.

NO MILITARY MOVE

No steps were taken on the Ethiopian appeal that the members or the League should come "promptly and effectively to the assistance of a victim of aggression."

Two reasons were given why no more strenuous action was taken against Italy.

1. Nothing short of military sanctions would materially help the Ethiopians.

2. A unanimous decision on further sanctions could not be expected in view of the French general election campaign.

From Ethiopia comes word that the Italians are meeting determined resistance and that the little rains are impeding the Italian military operations.

EDEN IN TALKS

Rt. Hon. Anthony Eden, British Foreign Secretary, to-day interviewed both Joseph Paul-Boncour, French minister of state, and Dr. Augusto Varconcellos of Portugal, chairman of the Sanctions Committee.

TO DRAFT RESOLUTION

It is expected that at the Council session Monday a resolution concerning the Italo-Ethiopian war will be adopted for submission to all League members.

The Council is expected to meet in the presence of the representatives of the two belligerents.

(While Italy is a member of the Council and Ethiopia is not, on several previous occasions during the Italo-Ethiopian controversy both nations have been represented at Council sessions. However, the Italian delegates usually have withdrawn when the Ethiopians entered).

NO LET-UP SEEN

While diplomats argued at Geneva about peace, authoritative sources in Rome today stated Italy intends to go ahead with its scientific military smashing Ethiopia.

This attitude was intimated in Geneva by an Italian spokesman, who said his government was willing to declare an armistice in its war with Ethiopia, but only after the Italian high command had the situation so well in hand that there would be no danger of any militant reaction on the part of the Ethiopians.

Ethiopian government officials said the motorized Italian column moving from Dessye toward Addis Ababa, 175 miles away, would experience no pleasure trip, as much of the road had been washed away by torrential rains and many of the wooden bridges over the deep mountain gorges had been destroyed.

NEWSPAPER OPINIONS

London, April 17 (Canadian Press from Havas).—Italy's iron-clad terms for cessation of the Ethiopian war were criticized by many newspapers today as a bid for a "conqueror" peace imposed on a vanquished people, and as a slap in the face for the League of Nations.

Some newspapers urged the tightening of sanctions in order to force Premier Mussolini to moderate his terms.

"We hope the League this week will show its opinion of the Italian 'offer' by imposing more drastic sanctions on this impudent and flagrant aggressor," The London News-Chronicle declared.

The Manchester Guardian declared: "It is true collective action has shown itself to be a very precarious enterprise. But if the principle of collective action is abandoned then there is no way of meeting the rapidly growing German danger except by a system of alliances."

could be carried out through such channels as was deemed expedient.

Regulations governing the Straits of the Dardanelles were drawn up at the Lausanne conference of 1922-23. The Straits Treaty was signed July 24, 1923.

Under that treaty the militarized zone on both sides of the Straits were closed to the military forces of Turkey.

Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan undertook to guarantee the freedom of navigation and the security of the demilitarized zone in return for the concession by Turkey of a restricted right of passage for waships.

assistance is still denied, but no official confirmation of this was given.

The crux of the entire situation appeared to be that British Columbia will not pledge itself to financial control by Ottawa until it is told definitely how far such control will go. At the preliminary discussions at the Dominion-Provincial conference, the thing was discussed from a general standpoint with the Dominion proposing that certain powers should be granted so that agreements for Dominion guarantees of provincial loans could be made. The provinces in return would be required to hypothecate certain revenue and other wise allow Dominion control over its finances. As yet, however, it has not been made clear how far this proposed control would extend.

Interest was shown here today in the statement of Premier Aberhart in Vancouver yesterday, warning Premier Pattullo against "putting his head in a noose" at Ottawa. Mr. Aberhart was referring to the loan council scheme.

Saskatchewan, it was learned, has a loan maturity due on May 1, and presumably requires assistance to meet it. Local observers were watching closely to see what action Ottawa would take in that case.

IMPROVEMENT TAX BOOST IS URGED

proximately $379,745, without levying for your annual installment of $358,200 for sinking fund purposes," said Mr. Brown.

Reductions in assessments in 1933 amounted to $2,168,994, in 1934 $3,151,655, in 1935 $1,655,933 and in 1936 $2,507,127. A total reduction of $9,483,709.

The mill rate in 1933, 1934 and 1935 was 41 mills.

"If you had adopted the policy of keeping your mill rate in line with the reduction in the assessments, very few would have had an increase in taxation, and at the same time your mill rate would have increased so as to produce approximately $279,000, or only $100,000 less than the $379,745 required today," Mr. Brown said.

The net debt of the city for 1931 was $12,224,278. In 1932 it was $12,866,221, in 1933 it was $12,002,631, in 1934 it was $11,685,322 and in 1935 it was $11,793,112.

"I cannot but feel that we must face our budget with the idea of meeting at least a portion of the increase, and if necessary produce an 'anticipated deficit' in black and white, representing so many dollars, in order that our budget will in no way be misconstrued," he said.

"The amount of our levy has been gradually decreasing while we have held the mill rate at 41 mills, and if this situation persists there is bound to come a time when no one will want to act as alderman and face the budget. For example, in 1932 we levied for $1,935,032, in 1933 for $1,858,245, in 1934 for $1,747,382, in 1935 for $1,690,048. The difference in our levy between the years 1932 to 1935 was $244,984.

"While our financial position is far from good, there are one or two features of a cheerful nature as shown in the collection of our arrears, which I feel sure, through the new system put into effect by our assessor and collector, will make an even better showing during the current year.

"In 1933 over 1932 we increased our collection of arrears, including penalties and interest, by $29,809.79, in 1934 over 1933 $53,097.38 and in 1935 over 1934 $49,085.21."

TENSION IN SPAIN GROWS AS STRIKE GRIPS MADRID

conferred late today and it was believed the strike would be called off at midnight.

The strike was called in protest against "Fascist provocations" and followed an open threat by Socialists and Communists to take reprisals against "Fascist terror" as a result of a fresh conflict late yesterday in which at least three persons were killed and forty wounded. The capital was guarded heavily.

Although Socialist headquarters said there would be no general strike, the workers left their jobs apparently of their own accord. Street cars and taxicabs disappeared from the streets and workers who had reported on their jobs went home.

Stores began to close gradually, chiefly in the workers' districts, while housewives rushed to put in supplies. The basic services, such as water, light, gas, telephones and railroads, were not affected.

By noon, normal life in Madrid was paralyzed.

The iron shutters of shops along the main streets were closed. Even cafes and cigar stores were closed. Shortly after noon, the subway shut down.

EXPLORERS GO TO GREENLAND

London, April 17.—Another Oxford University exploration party will leave England early this summer for west Greenland to continue the work begun last year by the expedition led by H. Hayward. There will be nine in the expedition, led by Peter Mott, who was with Hayward last year.

B.N.A. REFORM TO BE PUT OFF

Belief Grows at Ottawa That Proposed Constitutional Changes Will Be Postponed Till Next Year Due to Lack of Unanimity Between Dominion and Provinces

Canadian Press

Ottawa, April 17.—Belief grew today among political observers that constitutional reform projected early in the present parliamentary session would be postponed at least until next year owing to lack of unanimity between the Dominion and the provinces.

Best-informed sources predicted specific amendments to the British North America Act would not be sought this year owing to difficulties which have arisen in the loan council plan of Dominion-provincial financings.

Premier Aberhart of Alberta has said he would not be bound by the proposed new set-up for borrowing from the Dominion. Premier Pattullo of British Columbia also has raised objections.

As a result, Finance Minister Dunning, sponsor of the plan, took the stand there was little use in proceeding with the petition to Westminster when the provinces most concerned were not prepared to abide by the plan.

It was expected he would have further conferences with the borrowing provinces in an effort to obtain new agreement on the plan or in some other that might be advanced.

DECEMBER CONFERENCE

At the Dominion-provincial Conference in December, soon after the present government took office, it was agreed that certain specific amendments to the constitution were needed urgently. With New Brunswick dissenting, it was agreed further that Canada should obtain the right enjoyed by other dominions of amending her own constitution.

Plans were launched by which agreement might be reached on a re-enactment of the British North America Act, or a specific amendment put through, so that Canada might enjoy constitutional autonomy. A sub-committee of experts has been working to that end for many months.

Since all provincial legislatures soon will have concluded their sessions for this year the possibility of carrying out this plan during 1936 has ended. It will almost certainly be a major feature of the 1937 sessions of the federal and provincial Houses.

A resolution which appeared in the Commons in the name of Justice Minister Lapointe contains a petition, which would also have to be carried in the Senate, asking the British Parliament to amend the British North America Act to the extent that the Dominion might be empowered to lend money to the provinces and accept specific collateral in the form of subsidies and other definite revenues.

NO CLEMENCY FOR TWO MEN

California Supreme Court Rules A. Mackay and J. Kristy Must Die

Associated Press

San Francisco, April 17.—The state supreme court yesterday denied clemency to Alexander Mackay and Joseph Kristy, scheduled to be hanged April 24 for participation in a San Quentin prison break last year.

Former Warden James B. Holohan, who was severely beaten, and four prison board officials were abducted in the futile escape plot.

The state supreme court declined to reserve the lower court, despite the intercession of Acting British Consul-General, Cyril H. Cane in Mackay's behalf, on grounds the prisoner was a British subject.

Hsinking, April 17. — The Soviet Union today accepted Manchukuo's invitation for creation of a joint commission to regulate navigation rights of the Ussuri and Amur rivers, which form the boundary between Siberia and Manchukuo. The commission will meet at Blagovieschchsk, Siberia, April 30. It will discuss questions which have resulted in border incidents during the last few months.

BULLET STRIKES BOY'S BICYCLE

Canadian Press

Vancouver, April 17. — A bullet from a .22 calibre rifle passed through the wooden carrier of a delivery boy's bicycle yesterday as he was riding along a residential street here.

The youth, Billy Wilson, told police he was riding along when he heard the report of a rifle and a bullet crashed into the carrier, passed through an order book and out the other side of the box. He said he did not know from which direction the bullet came.

BRIBE OFFER IS MADE TO JURY

Associated Press

Kahoka, Mo., April 17. — A mistrial was declared by Circuit Judge Walter A. Higbee yesterday in the criminal conspiracy trial of Mrs. Nellie Tipton Muench and three co-defendants after a juror had testified he had been offered $100 to hand the jury.

The juror, Charles Long, said the offer was made to him by Harry Spangler, a surveyor, who had represented himself as acting for Joseph L. Gutting, one of the defence attorneys.

Judge Higbee asserted the juror's testimony substantiated a state charge of "jury-tampering," and there was "nothing to do" but declare a mistrial. He reset the case for the first Monday in August.

Mrs. Mutnch had repeatedly asserted she was the mother of a baby awarded to an unwed servant girl, Anna Ware, by the St. Louis court of appeals. With Dr. Muench she was charged after the St. Louis court hearing with conspiracy to obtain unlawful possession of a child.

The finding of the court of appeals was that the Muenches, Jones and Mrs. Berroyer had conspired to procure the Ware baby so the Muenches might "palm it off on the public" as their own natural born child.

D. A. Lamson Now Screen Writer

Man Who Faced Execution in Californiia Has Got "Some Things I Want to Say"

Associated Press

Hollywood, Calif., April 17.—Three years in prison and three trials on a charge of having murdered his wife, gave David A. Lamson "some things I want to say."

"And saying them, now, gives me my chance to be useful, which is what I want more than anything else of life," he says.

Lamson came to Hollywood this week to begin adapting for the movies the book "We Who Are About to Die," he wrote during the years of his ordeal. He was released after the third jury had disagreed, and he is now under contract to RKO-Radio studios.

"I hope I can stay here," he said. "If this isn't to be the medium for the things I want to say, then there will be some other."

He expressed a desire to be useful "by informing the world on certain things with which he had hard, bruising contact. Two of them are "matters of philosophy, a little hard to explain."

Another is: "Capital punishment is futile."

He began by quoting what he said is a death-house truism: "The smart guy gets the breaks—the dumbbell gets the rope'."

Roosevelt Answers Editors' Questions

But Discussion at Conference at White House Is Not Made Public in United States Press

Washington, April 17.—The American Society of Newspaper Editors sat down in an "off the record" discussion with President Roosevelt yesterday evening after the organization had heard its own president discuss "a national administration policy which is far less concerned with the freedom of the press than an American government should be."

This statement was made by Grove Patterson, president of the society and editor of The Toledo Blade, before the editors of approximately 150 newspapers attended an informal smoker at the White House, armed with a written list of twenty-five questions.

Both these and the President's answers were "for purposes of background only."

The editors were twice warned by Patterson that nothing taking place at the White House conference was to be published.

In a survey of the last year in the press, Patterson said there had been too much Lindbergh publicity and held the New Jersey court to be more responsible for the Hauptmann trial "circus" than were the newspapers. He termed methods of the Black Senate lobby committee in seizing private telegrams the principal infringement on the freedom of the press.

"Not only is the freedom of the press affected," said Patterson, "but the ordinary rights of American citizens, long guaranteed under the constitution, are ignored by the indefensible, dictatorial methods of the Black sensational committee in seizing priavte messages and telegrams."

Many Arrests Made in Poland

Deaths in Riots in Lwow Reported to Total Sixteen

Associated Press

Lwow, Poland, April 17.—The main streets of Lwow presented a scene of desolation today as rioting which caused deaths estimated as high as sixteen and several scores of injuries was halted by police.

Arrests of Communists, blamed officially for starting the riots, went on all night here and some arrests were made also in Lodz and in Warsaw.

The rioting began yesterday afternoon as mourners sought to change the official route of a funeral procession for an unemployed man slain in Tuesday's demonstration.

An official report said three men were killed, but private reports were sixteen bodies had been found in the streets, two of them remains of policemen.

EXPLOSIVES ON DOORSTEP

Plymouth, Eng., April 17.—A fourteen-year-old girl picked up a newspaper-wrapped parcel on the doorstep of her home yesterday evening and carried it to her mother, thinking it was an Easter present—but it was found to contain two unexploded fourteen-pound shells.

Police expressed the belief they were stolen from an ammunition depot at the Devonport naval dockyard. Secret service men are investigating the possibility the shells might be linked to recent attempts at sabotage aboard British naval vessels at Plymouth.

SOUP PROTEST IN GERMANY

Canadian Press from Havas

Nuremberg, Germany, April 17. — In a letter to the anti-Semitic newspaper Der Stuermer, published here today, a reader protested against the use of the name of Sarah Bernhardt, the famous Franco-Jewish actress, for a soup destined for Nazi stomachs. A Munich hotel, the letter said, advertised "Sarah Bernhardt soup."

"My friends and I," the correspondent wrote, "believe that a German hotel which dares to serve dishes with Jewish names outrages our philosophical convictions. If this continues we will be treated to 'Litvinoff Sauce' and 'Einstein meat-balls.'"

CAUSE OF MINE BLAST FOUND

Canadian Press

Edmonton, April 17.—Explosion in the Imperial Coal Mine at Coalhurst, near Lethbridge, Alta., in which sixteen men perished last December 9, was caused by gas from old workings and could be attributed to an open flame or possibly a damaged lamp, it is declared by Mr. Justice H. W. Lunney in his report as royal commissioner investigating the catastrophe. The report was released yesterday evening.

The mine was operated by the Lethbridge Collieries Ltd.

Mr. Justice Lunney, member of the appellate division of the Supreme Court of Alberta, handed his report to Acting-Premier and Attorney-General J. W. Hugill.

Measures to prevent recurrence of such a mine disaster, the worst in Alberta's history, are recommended by the commissioner.

CONSTITUTIONAL REFORM DELAYED

AN OTTAWA DISPATCH SAYS THE constitutional reform programme adopted by the conference of Dominion and provincial governments probably will not be dealt with in the present session of Parliament. The reasons given for delaying the matter until next year are that the provincial Legislatures for the most part have finished, or shortly will finish, their 1936 sessions, and the objection of two of the provinces to participating in the proposed loan council.

The constitutional changes embodied in the resolutions of the conference provided generally for legislation by the British Parliament under which the Canadian Parliament in future would have the power to amend Canada's constitution subject to certain conditions which would protect the interests of the provinces, instead of being required to seek such alterations in London as at present; for specific amendments to the British North America Act permitting the Dominion Government to lend money to the provinces subject to the hypothecating of certain provincial revenues at Ottawa to assure the Dominion against loss; and amendments to the same measure legalizing the collection by the province of certain indirect taxation such as amusement and entertainment taxes concerning the constitutionality of which there is some doubt. It also was proposed that provision be made empowering the provinces to collect sales taxes.

While there is nothing pressing in the general proposal that Canada should obtain power to amend her own constitution, it is not clear why some of the specific amendments to the B.N.A. Act concerning the financial relations between the Dominions and provinces should be held over. Even if the loan council proposal goes by the board it is still necessary to remove all doubt as to the power of the provinces to collect amusement taxes or impose a sales tax. While the general constitutional reform proposal and the circumstances surrounding the projected loan council are controversial, there should be no difference of opinion relative to the provincial taxation proposals.

Ottawa press reports within the last few weeks apparently have sought to convey the impression that Alberta and British Columbia have repudiated their agreement with the Dominion and other provinces to participate in a loan council, and that because of their repudiation this proposal will not be carried out. Now it is intimated that partly because of this recalcitrance not only the loan council proposal but the whole scheme of constitutional reform, as well as the confirmation of the right of the provinces to collect amusement and sales taxes, must be deferred.

British Columbia did not reject the loan council proposal as it was understood by the conference. It is opposed to some of the conditions which the Dominion requires for participation in the council, particularly the requirement that the provincial governments shall give the control of all borrowing power to the people of the provinces to an outside authority. This is a right which is not the government's to give, and can be alienated only with the specific consent of those to whom it belongs.

British Columbia is quite prepared to pledge with the Dominion such of its revenues as are necessary to guarantee the federal treasury against loss, in return for any loan it might receive, but this is a vastly different thing from delegating what virtually amounts to control of the entire financial structure of the province to an authority which is not directly responsible to the people of British Columbia through their Legislature. It was on this same principle in another form that the present government at Ottawa fought Mr. Bennett for the right of the Canadian people through their Parliament to control federal expenditures.

No provincial government would enter into the loan council under such conditions, so why all this propaganda holding up British Columbia as a wicked partner with Alberta as the bold bad boys of the piece, as the potential wreckers of the whole scheme of Canadian constitutional reform? And why, in any case, should this controversy delay the proposal to confirm the right of the provinces to collect certain taxation which some of them have been collecting for years, but about the constitutionality of which there has been some doubt? And why should it cause the postponement of the proposal to empower the provinces to collect a sales tax, if they wish to do so?

THE BATTLE OF PRIMARIES

WHILE EUROPE IS ON ITS TIP-TOES over various complicated international crises charged with the danger of war, another conflict already is under way on this continent which probably holds more interest for many people within the continental boundaries than Ethiopia, the Rhineland or Mongolia. This is the fight in the primaries for the nomination of a Republican candidate for the presidency of the neighboring republic against President Roosevelt.

The chief battleground for the moment is Illinois, where doughty old Senator Borah, progressive Republican, is struggling with Colonel Knox, prominent publisher and owner of The Chicago News, for the capture of the delegation that state will send to the nominating convention. Knox not unexpectedly has the lead but Borah yesterday made substantial gains in the rural districts. The other principal contender for the nomination is Governor Landon of Kansas, and although for the moment the Borah-Knox battle has gained the chief headline prominence, it is admitted that in the final choice at the convention Landon will prove a formidable contender.

For the Democrats, Roosevelt had things his own way in the Illinois primaries, and the enormous vote given to him suggests that whatever may be the political reaction to the New Deal his personal popularity is still very great.

FOR THOSE WHO WANT WORK

YESTERDAY AT OTTAWA, HON. T. A. Crerar, Dominion Minister of Mines, made public details of fifteen preliminary reports based on last year's geological survey programme, and in his statement he said that Canada's mining prospecting and exploration companies this year would be able to send men to the field equipped with a greater wealth of information than ever before.

In addition to the Minister's pronouncement that he was convinced the coming season promises to be the most active in the history of the Canadian mining industry—that it would provide the first opportunity of testing the value of such exploration projects as those launched by the government last year—he made it known that a large, readily accessible, area in the Yukon "is defined as practically virgin prospecting territory."

And the dispatch from Ottawa, specifically referring to British Columbia, says: "In British Columbia one report directs attention to the possibility of commercial quantities of gold in tertiary gravels in the Cranbrook area. Large capital expenditures will be required to test the deposit, it is stated, but the chances of success are regarded as sufficient to warrant the expenditures.

"Examinations made in the Fraser River-Harrison Lake region are the subject of a second report. Presence of rock formations similar to those in Coquihalla region to the east, and the development of nickeliferous sulphide bodies at the British Columbia Nickel property, prompted the examinations."

The work which has been done by the geological survey programme should be valuable to those unemployed men who are not afraid of work.

Says a Canadian dispatch from London: "Britain has about three months' supply of grain on hand." This ought to expand the outlet for Canada's wheat surplus.

A noted United States commentator on current events says psychologists are offering a new approach to the unemployment problem. He says: "It is simply this—persons who can't get jobs or who can't hold what they have, doubtless have personality kinks that should be ironed out." Yes, but what formula are the people in Canada and the United States to adopt so they will be able soon to "iron out" their personalities?

What Other Papers Say

MINING SEES CHANGES

The Hamilton Herald

It is reasonable to suppose that the glamour of the tented city of sin which was Dawson during the rush of '98 is over-emphasized in retrospect. The ladies that were known as Lou were, perhaps, not quite as Robert Service has depicted them; there were few, or no, Sam McGees cremated by the marge of Lake Lebarge and no doubt there was more hard work and less barroom romance along the trail which leads over the "switchback" hills to White Horse than fiction has since implied. Yet there was an essential drama in the old prospecting which, whatever His Excellency may say, vanished with the application of science to the business of gold mining.

There is still the challenge to endeavor there is still, no doubt, the unexpected; there is still the land which, as Service wrote, steeped in eternal beauty. But the old, rough human scramble, the mingling of strangely assorted persons, which characterized the old gold rush have given place to airplanes carrying sedate and learned geologists with strings of letters after their names.

After all the real romance of the old prospecting was not the gold at the end of the rainbow, nor the possibility of quick wealth. It was the fact that duke and beggar, criminal and honest citizen, bank clerk and bank robber, strong and weak, good and bad—all rubbed shoulders in the same stampede.

CHINESE MERIT PRAISE

The Kitchener News-Record

A simile that might well be coined in these days of increasing paternalism is: As scarce as the number of Chinese on relief.

Kitchener and Waterloo haven't any celestials depending on public aid and there are very few cities and towns, if any, in eastern Canada that have Chinese on their relief lists. And yet the Chinese are the most numerous of the races of Asiatic origin now residents of Canada. Census reports issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics show that more than half of the latter are Chinese. There are over 43,000 males and about 3,500 females. Of these, 1,900 are boys and 1,800 are girls under the age of fifteen.

More than half, or over 27,000 of the Chinese reside in British Columbia. Most of the Chinese children are in the Pacific Coast province.

There are about 6,400 Chinese cooks and about the same number engaged in laundry work, 3,500 cafe and tavern keepers, 125 hairdressers, fifteen musicians, fourteen clergymen, eight journalists, seven actors and four police as well as many in other varied occupations.

The fact that the Chinese look pretty well after their own countrymen when they become unemployed is indeed something for which they should be given great credit.

Loose Ends

The story of Baldy, the wise old philosopher of the range — and how he learned about life—and the acquisition of oats and sugar lumps.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

BALDY

MY HORSE, Baldy, probably won't interest you, but I think he should have a piece in the newspapers, as a kind of tribute to his long and outstanding career. Baldy is getting old now, close to twenty, and while he is still strong, an old horse's life is uncertain and this may well prove his obituary.

I call Baldy my horse, but, of course, he doesn't belong to me. He belongs to this ranch where I am staying. He belongs to the plateau, to this range, where he would return even though you took him across continents and oceans. He was born up here nineteen years ago last spring of parents now almost forgotten. Grandpa O'Shea saw him one morning, a gawky bay creature, all legs, standing in the snow beside his mother and tottering feebly. In the ordinary way a colt is left out on the range with his mother to look after himself, but something about this one, the slim legs and fine head, caught Grandpa's eye. He brought a wagon out and took the colt back to the great barns, his mother trailing behind. Baldy—he was called that because of the white spot on his head—thus grew up in the lap of luxury.

Grandpa knew horses. Baldy soon showed the lines of the thoroughbred. His mother had some blood in her, a mixture of thoroughbred and Hamiltonian, and his father, one of the Birch's stallions on the other side of the mountain, was of pedigree stock, a racehorse who had retired some years before into the country. Baldy looked like a racehorse by the time he had reached the end of his second year.

FIRST ATTEMPT

A COUPLE of cowboys, having nothing to amuse them on a long summer evening, and Grandpa having gone down to the store, decided to teach Baldy the ways of the world. They drove him into the corral, put a rope around his neck and managed to get a saddle on him. Baldy took it all quietly enough, but the whites of his eyes showed ominously. When a half-breed boy swung up on his back, Baldy converted himself temporarily into a cyclone. The half-breed found himself lying on his back just outside the corral with three ribs broken.

The boys didn't tell Grandpa what they had done, knowing that he would be furious, and when furious the old man would sometimes swear strange and ancient oaths and fire everybody at once.

Anyway, Baldy had the reputation now of being a mean horse. The boys handled him gingerly in the stable and he would look at them with ears back and whites of his eyes showing. But Grandpa handled him like a kitten. When he was just approaching three years, Grandpa used to take him out in the corral and put a saddle on him and lead him around quietly. Baldy grew used to the saddle, seemed to enjoy his walks with Grandpa and the way the old man would rub his nose and sometimes feed him a handful of oats which looked like sugar to Baldy.

GRANDPA'S HORSE

AT LAST one day Grandpa put his foot in the stirrup and swung on to the saddle. For a moment Baldy trembled, terrified by this weight on his back, the feel of another animal clinging to him, but when Grandpa spoke to him and leaned over and scratched his neck Baldy knew it was all right. He stopped trembling and walked around the corral. By the end of the year Grandpa rode Baldy everywhere. It was pretty fine, Baldy thought, to be carrying the boss of the ranch, and his social station was far above that of the other colts born with him. He spent the night in the barn, with a feed of oats and all the hay he could eat and the ecstasy of a brisk curry combing and brushing down in the morning.

One morning Grandpa didn't come to the barn to see that the boys had combed Baldy down. He didn't come down the next morning, either, Baldy waited, but Grandpa never came again at all. There was a large crowd of people about the old ranch, all dressed in their best clothes, and a minister in a black coat and a procession up the hill to the place where the upright stones stood in a row under a big pine tree. After that, Baldy never saw Grandpa again.

He wouldn't let anybody else ride him. When some strange man tried to mount him, Baldy rolled on him and they had to carry the strange man up to the house, all limp like an empty grain sack. A few days later one of the boys led Baldy with a halter down the hill, past the Indian village and along a strange road. They traveled all day and the next day and the next, until they came to another ranch by a lake. They put Baldy into a strange barn with a lot of heavy work horses, who looked at him and snorted disdainfully.

STRANGER

THEY WERE kind enough to Baldy at his new home. The Trentons were always good to their horses and Baldy was a valuable animal. He submitted for a while and young Tom Trenton, who rode him, figured that he had acquired a saddle horse who would serve him for the next ten or fifteen years. But one night, instead of tying Baldy in a stall, they left him in a corral. The next morning the top rail of the corral was broken and Baldy had disappeared.

Baldy didn't stop traveling until he had reached the plateau. When the cowboys found him a few days later, grazing with the other horses on the south range, he was as thin as a rail. They took him back to the Trentons, but he escaped again. This happened three times until young Michael O'Shea, Grandpa's grandson, came back to the ranch from the east. He paid young Trenton $200 and kept Baldy at home. From then on nobody rode Baldy but Michael, and with Grandpa's grandson on his back, Baldy seemed satisfied.

One day, Michael loaned Baldy to a man who wore fancy riding breeches and boots. The man could ride all right—Baldy knew that by the feel of him in the saddle—but he had no horse sense. He kept Baldy at his hardest gallop four miles down the hill and four miles back. Almost a thoroughbred, Baldy would run until he dropped. He dropped in a white lather in front of the barn when the man dismounted. And, lying there, he probably saw young Michael say something to the man in the fancy breeches and knock him down with one cool blow to the chin.

INVALID

THEY WORKED over Baldy all day, walked him about the corral for hours to prevent him getting chilled, but he foundered in spite of them. His feet, pounded to a jelly on the hard road, grew stiff and misshapen. Michael pensioned him off on the south range, where Baldy spent three years in contemplative ease. Sometimes Michael would stop there and talk to him and rub his nose and say things that Baldy didn't understand.

Then he brought a strange man with him and together they led Baldy to the barn and tied one of his legs up so that he couldn't kick, and the strange man took a red-hot iron and burned Baldy's feet until he shrieked with pain and ever tried to bite Michael. But that seemed to cure his feet. In a few months he could walk without limping. Michael started to ride him occasionally, but he couldn't run as fast as in the old days. He became a pet about the stables, fed on oats and lumps of sugar, and loaned to fellows like me to trot about the range.

Baldy is nearly twenty now and wiser than any man alive, and for a few minutes he can stretch out into a thoroughbred's gallop, smooth as a rocking chair. When I go down to saddle him in the morning he tries to put his fine nose into my pocket for the lump of sugar which is always there. If I forget to give him his handful of oats he refuses to leave the barn and when he has galloped far enough he calmly turns around and heads for home. If I persisted in going ahead he would undoubtedly heave me off into a snowdrift and stand there laughing at me, and waiting for me to get on again. Baldy won't quarrel with me; not so long as I have a sugar lump in my pocket and know how to open the iron catch on the oat bin.

Sometimes shoes bear "mystic" letters on the lining. If the letters are N.T.O., it means that the shoes were not tried on by the purchaser. T.S. means too short and T.L. too long.

Oak Bay Council Receives City's Fire Agreement With Short Debate

The city of Victoria's proposal for a one-year renewal of the existing fire prevention agreement with the municipality was received by the Oak Bay Council yesterday afternoon, and after a very short debate referred to a committee of the whole for further consideration.

Councillor W. Ellis voiced the general opinion of the council, saying the municipality was in general agreement with Alderman Walter Luney's attitude at a meeting of the Victoria Ratepayers' Association on Tuesday evening, when the alderman suggested that it would be cheaper for Oak Bay to operate its own fire department than to pay a higher figure than the present $11,500 per year.

Acting Reeve R. Angus reminded the council that the present arrangement gave Oak Bay a call on all the city equipment in case of need. However, he added, this right had not been made use of since the burning of the Arena.

TWO-BID ASSURES GAME

New Rule Provides For Excess of Honor Tricks Over Losers, to Permit Strong Opener

By WM. E. McKENNEY

One of the saddest errors frequently made by inexperienced players is the inaccurate use of the game-guarantee opening bid of two in a suit.

Years ago such opening bid was advocated if the hand continued about five honor tricks and a biddable suit. Later, experience disclosed the fallacy of this yardstick, because it was found that an opening bid of two in a suit most frequently led to a hopeless game or slam contract, which was defeated because it was arrived at unjustifiably.

Too many players still follow this "rule" and even today are "banging" weak two-bids at their partners with alarming frequency.

Modern practice dictates that the bidding start with an opening bid of one, except with hands that are so strong that game seems certain; and that a probable slam contract can be made if some slight strength can be found in partner's hand.

In the last four or five years several formulas have been advanced for determining whether an opening hand contains a justifiable bid of two in a suit. Fundamentally, there are two necessary qualifications for such opening bid:

1. The hand should contain at least four honor tricks, to support a possible slam try during the later rounds of bidding.

2. The hand should contain enough playing tricks practically to guarantee game.

Both these qualifications have been incorporated into a new formula which automatically and quickly determines whether your hand contains a justifiable opening bid of two in a suit. Here it is:

Open the bidding with two in a suit only when your hand contains a biddable suit and more honor tricks than losers.

This formula is simplicity itself. What do we mean by "losers?"

The losers in a generally strong hand can easily be determined, because they represent the low, unprotected cards in the various suits. But where the losers are not so easily determined, you simply add up the playing trick strength of the hand, which, subtracted from thirteen, will indicate the number of losers in the hand.

Then, if the hand contains more honor tricks than losers, you have a sound opening bid of two in a suit. Consider the following examples:

HAND A	HAND B
♠ K Q J	♠ K Q 9 8 7
♥ A K 9 7 5	♥ A K Q
♦ A 3	♦ K J 10
♣ A K 9	♣ A 3

In Hand A you have one loser in spades, two in hearts (the heart nine is a loser and you may reasonably expect to win only one trick with the fourth and fifth hearts), one in diamonds, and one in clubs— a total of five losers. Since the hand contains six and one-half honor tricks (more honor tricks than losers), it justifies a sound opening bid of two hearts.

In Hand B you have three losers in spades, none in hearts, two in diamonds and one in clubs, or a total of six losers. Since the hand contains only five-plus honor tricks, it cannot be opened as a two-bid, and and therefore calls for a one-spade bid.

Today's Contract Problem

You have opened the bidding with one heart. Your partner has bid three hearts. What is your next response, holding Hand A? Holding Hand B?

HAND A	HAND B
♠ 10 2	♠ 10
♥ A J 9 5 2	♥ A J 9 5 2
♦ A K 9	♦ K 9 5
♣ A 9 6	♣ A K 6 5

Visitor Finds Swimming Good

Mrs. John H. McDonald of Tuxedo Park, Winnipeg, belongs to the prairie contingent which has crossed the mountains during the last couple of weeks to get in on some early summer weather here.

Wednesday afternoon Mrs. McDonald, after a garden tea party at a Cordova Bay home, found it summery enough to swim outdoors. The hostess said she would oblige by providing the swimming members of the party with swim suits, and so the tea party turned into a swimming party. Mrs. McDonald after her plunge said the ocean water was warmer than she had expected to find it. To prove to the folks back home that she had really found summer here, while the prairies are still winter-bound, photographs were taken of the mid-April outdoors swimming event to be sent to Winnipeg.

Many years ago, when mountains lived and there were men and women mountains, according to Maori legend, Taranaki, which is now Mount Egmont, stood far inland between Mount Tongariro and Lake Taupo, and close by stood the beautiful woman mountain, Pihanga.

Tongariro loved Pihango, but one day, while Tongariro was away, Taranaki paid court to Pihanga. On his return, Tongariro attacked Taranaki for trying to steal his love, and Taranaki fled to the sea, where he now stands.

In his flight, he tore a long chasm, that is now the Tanganui River, and he left a great hole where he once stood. That is now Lake Rotoaira. Warm springs in this extinct volcano, that rises to a height of 8,250 feet, are all that is left of the fiery love that once warmed Taranaki's breast.

Lawyers Argue Balcony Fall

Miss Dymonds Damage Action Against Landlord Runs Through Thursday

Sophie Dymond's suit for $782 specific and unstated general damages against Victoria Jane Wilson because of injuries suffered through the collapse of a back-stairway or balcony to the Broadway rooms, London Building, Broad and Johnson Streets, continued through its third day yesterday with Norman Whittaker and F. C. Elliott, the respective lawyers, delivering their final arguments before Mr. Justice Robertson.

Miss Wilson is landlord of the property. Miss Dymond was housekeeper for her brother, W. F. Dymond, who had leased the rooming house.

Miss Dymond, while shaking curtains from the back outdoor stairway, was thrown to the cement courtyard when the railing collapsed. She was unconscious for three days, suffered concussion, fractured her skull, and among other effects was the loss of the use of fingers of both hands.

Mr. Elliott just before the court recessed for luncheon today argued that the responsibility for the condition of the back stairway was not the landlords. Mr. Elliott said Miss Dymond must have fainted and in falling broke the railing.

"You have got to draw on your imagination to find that she was injured as a result of the collapse of that railing," Mr. Elliott said. "There is not one particle of evidence that the stairway was not in perfect condition when the lease was granted in 1930."

Mr. Justice Martin announced for the court that judgment in the case of Gibson vs. B.C. Telegraph Company, which was to have been handed down here tomorrow, would not be ready until next week.

It costs an average of $5,000 weekly to run a first-class football club in England.

TO TEST "IT" BY MACHINE

Masshachusetts Girls to Be Tried Out For Personality

Canadian Press

Cambridge, Mass., April 17.—The magnetic personalities of Massachusetts girls face a "scientific" test tonight at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Before a formidable appearing contraption of lights, dials, coils and condensers, known as an "it" machine, will parade the engineers' "best" girls for a test of the power of their personalities.

The "it" machine is an invention of tech student engineers. Upon its readings will depend the price escorts must pay for the girls' admission to the "personality" party.

The girl with a lot of personality should be worth a higher price to her escort, the ticket committee declared.

As the fair subject steps into its electro-static field, her personal magnetism will register on the dials and a bank of lamps will light, the inventors said. The brilliance of the lights, and consequently, the steepness of the admission fee, will vary directly with the girl's electric personal charm.

Good work was being done by the missionary societies of the United Church. Mrs. G. Gordon moved the vote of thanks to the speaker and artists. Mrs. E. E. Dent, who will shortly leave town, was the recipient of a lovely leather bag in appreciation of her many deeds of service. Rev. Richard Ashcroft closed the meeting by pronouncing the Benediction. Tea was served.

CITY TEMPLE Y.P.S.

The regular meeting of the Victoria City Temple Young People's Society took place Tuesday, Miss Ruth Hanson presiding. The meeting opened with the singing of "Come Ye Saints, Behold and Wonder." Twenty-five members answered the roll call, and there were two guests present. Selections played by Robert Osselton and Robert Ward on the violin and accordion were much enjoyed.

After a brief business period, Ralph Holt, devotional convener, introduced the speaker, Rev. W. J. Gibson. The principal theme of his subject was "Service." Having devoted forty-five years as a missionary up the West Coast on the Mainland, Mr. Gibson's remarks brought home the real meaning of loving and enduring service. He emphasized that if true happiness were sought through the channel of Christian service, the efforts would yield a lasting and abiding power to live a full and useful life.

The president thanked the speaker for his very interesting address. The next meeting is in charge of the citizenship convener.

To Bury Woman In St. Paul's

Former Bishop's Widow to Rest There; First Woman Since 1666

Canadian Press Cable

London, April 16.—The rare incident of a third burial within St. Paul's Cathedral in six months happens Saturday when Louise Creighton, widow of a former Bishop of London who died in 1901, is to be buried beside her husband in the crypt.

It is doubtful if any woman has been buried in St. Paul's since the great fire of 1666. Mrs. Creighton was eighty-six. Her husband was regarded as one of the greatest historical scholars of his generation. His wife possessed impressive intellectual gifts, her biography of her husband having been considered a masterpiece.

After her husband's death King Edward VII granted her apartments at Hampton Court Palace. Subsequently she removed to Oxford. Her husband was the immediate predecessor of the present Bishop of London.

The other recent burials within St Paul's were those of Lord Jellicoe, in November, and Lord Beatty, in March.

TOOK SNAKE ON SOCIAL PARTY

British Consul's Wife in Detroit Has Pet Boa Constrictor

Canadian Press

Detroit, Mich, April 17.—Anxious to show the world that snakes are "lovely, docile" creatures of inestimable value to mankind and not what most people think, Mrs. Leslie C. Hughes-Hallett, wife of the British Consul here, attended a gathering at an exclusive Fencing Club here last night accompanied by a four-and-a-half foot boa constrictor.

Mrs. Hughes-Hallett obtained the baby boa, which she describes as a "beautiful creature, a rainbow boa with an iridescent sheen to his body" from a Detroit chain grocery company which received it inadvertently in a crate of bananas.

Officials of the company telephoned her yesterday upon learning of her request that the police department refer to her any calls from citizens who want snakes killed. Mrs. Hughes-Hallett said she gladly would care for any snakes other people want out of the way. She wants to stop "this ruthless slaughter" of harmless, useful creatures.

Then she took it out for the evening. Oddly enough people at the de Tuscan Fencing Club did not appear alarmed. They sat around and chatted with her while the creature curled up in her lap and slept.

Mrs. Hughes-Hallett studied reptiles with noted research workers on one of the largest snake farms in the world at Sao Paulo, Brazil, and is continuing her investigations here.

She thinks that because of the tradition that the devil appeared as a serpent in the Garden of Eden there is an inborn fear and hatred of snakes in most Christian people. Buddhists consider it a sin to harm a snake.

OBYPA HELD DEBATE

"Resolved that Victoria should have busses instead of street cars," was the interesting and humorous debate planned by the Modern Living Group at the weekly meeting of the Obypa last Tuesday. The members acted as judges and awarded the decision to the affirmative upheld by the Misses Evelyn Foulds and Jean Smith. The negative side was taken by Messrs. Dick Bradbury and Tom Farmer.

Bert Henry gave the scripture reading, and a devotional talk on the "Genesis of Missionary Work in Africa" was given.

The Globe Trotting Group is arranging next week's programme and an interesting meeting is being planned.

Romance of East And West Ends

Associated Press

Columbus, O., April 17.—An East-West romance that bloomed in a Columbus ten-cent store ended yesterday when the court of domestic relations granted Mrs. Viola Brown Lin an uncontested divorce from James Lin, foster son of China's president.

Judge Clayton Rose restored Mrs. Lin's maiden name and approved a property settlement which was not disclosed, but which court attaches said gave the American girl between $3,000 and $4,000.

In brief testimony Mrs. Lin told of her elopement with Lin last July 14 when he was an Ohio State University student and she was a hardware counter clerk. She said Lin returned to China September 9 and had no intention of living with her again.

Mrs. Lin's divorce suit had been pending since December 2, shortly after dispatches from China disclosed that Lin had a Chinese wife of whom the American Mrs. Lin professed to know nothing.

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

MOTHER CAN CHANGE ADOLESCENT'S DIET TO CLEAR UP SKIN

The sight of her growing child's skin covered with ugly blotches is distress to the mother and one source of an inferiority complex in the child. Yet these are commonplace afflictions of the adolescent period. The use of X-ray treatments, of antiseptic lotions and salves will help enormously but, without some efforts to improve the diet, the whole influence of the treatments may be undone.

It is almost inevitable that the adolescent child will be the victim of eating habits that are far from ideal. Not only are appetites finicky at this period, and inclined to the exotic and unusual foods, but fudge parties, picnics and midnight feasts lead to unwise indulgences in foods which are delightful, but often burdensome to the digestion.

NO MORE RICH "SNACKS"

Midafternoon and midnight orgies of rich foods must be looked upon with a critical eye if the adolescent is really to work any improvement in the skin which causes him so much humiliation.

We have a leaflet on "Diet for the Adolescent," which outlines for the parent the kind of meals calculated to offer proper nourishment. This may be had for a self-addressed and three-cent stamped envelope sent to Myrtle Meyer Eldred of the "Your Baby and Mine" department of this newspaper.

FOODS TO AVOID

But, because diets mean less than nothing to children themselves, the mother must be able to offer them a simple outline of the foods to be avoided for the time being.

All foods rich in fats are open to suspicion and this means fat poultry and meats with a high fat content as well as chocolate, nuts, rich ice creams, greasy gravies, cakes, pies and cookies laden with butter. Lean meats, poultry and fish, potatoes and all kinds of vegetables, both raw and cooked, and all kinds of fruits will offer a diet that will give the treated skin a chance to become clear and lovely again.

OAKLANDS Y.P.S.

The Oaklands young people were privileged to have A. M. Redwood of Bangalore, India, to speak to them on Wednesday night. He gave a very helpful talk on "God's Purpose in Saving Us."

The Scripture portion was read by Sam Okamoto and Dave Stewart led the singing practice. The next meeting on April 29 will be a Biblical object meeting. All members were asked to bring an object mentioned in one of the four gospels.

Provincial Branch, Meeting in Vancouver, Hears Fine Reports

Vancouver, April 17.—The Presbyterian Church is the largest Protestant church in the world and has ever been a progressive body, according to Rev. D. Cameron, pastor of Central Presbyterian Church, who spoke at the opening session of Provincial Women's Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church. History shows that from outlying districts come great leaders, so, said the speaker, the church can not neglect that part of its work. He gave great credit to the men of high missionary ideals and the effect their lives have on the student body, and also spoke of the home mission committee which each year places forty students.

Mrs. R. M. Thomson, president, occupied the chair, and at Wednesday morning's session departmental reports were given. Mrs. W. H. McInnes, treasurer, had much of encouragement in her report, while some items will serve as a spur to greater effort.

The afternoon was devoted to a mission band rally, and the evening to discussion and conferences on reports led by secretaries, a social hour followed with members of Central auxiliary as hostesses.

Fifteen departmental reports were presented, and the afternoon session was a mission band rally. Discussion and conference on reports were lead by secretaries at the evening session.

Chinese work in Victoria and Vancouver was explaind on Thursday morning followd by deacones' work, and the report of the corresponding secretary by Mrs. W. G. Gourlie. After luncheon at which Westminster Presbyterial were hostess, an historical sketch was given by Mrs. W. J. White at the afternoon meeting.

DAVIES—WHITEHOUSE

Kamloops, April 17.—A pretty spring wedding took place at St. Paul's Cathedral Church at 2.30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon when Vera Rose, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Whitehouse, Medicine Hat, became the bride of Elved Vaughan Davies, son of Mr and Mrs. H. V. Davies, Victoria. Rev. W. F. Bushe performed the ceremony.

The bride, who entered the church on the arm of her father, was attended by Miss Brenda Morley. Ecroyde Claxton supported the bridegroom. Mrs. H. L. Morley officiated at the organ.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Archibald, Nicola Street, the bride's mother assisting in receiving the guests.

Mrs. Morley and Mrs. A. F. Matthews presided at the tea table and the Misses B. Archibald and Dorothy Matthews acted as serviteurs.

Mr. and Mrs. Davies left later for Avola, B.C., where they will make their home, the bridegroom being school teacher there.

Business Club — Mrs. H. M. Hall and Miss E. Van Becker were joint hostesses at the informal social evening held in the clubrooms of the Victoria Business and Professional Women's Club, yesterday evening, the affair being one of the popular series of weekly gatherings. Games were arranged by the hostesses, and bridge was also played, and dainty refreshments were served. Tomorrow afternoon the club will hold a spring tea and superfluity sale, with homecooking stall and fortune telling, and in the evening a bridge game will be held.

WED YESTERDAY AT CATHEDRAL

Miss Nellie Bradshaw Married to Mr. Geoffrey I. Edgelow

In the presence of many interested friends of the principals, the marriage was solemnized in Christ Church Cathedral yesterday evening at 8.30 o'clock of Mary Grace (Nellie), elder daughter of Mr. Arthur Bradshaw, 613 Avalon Road, and of the late Mrs. Bradshaw, became the bride of Mr. Geoffrey I. Edgelow, youngest son of Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Edgelow, Alkazar Mansions.

Very Rev. C. S. Quainton, Dean of Columbia, performed the ceremony, and the bridal marches were played by Mr. Stanley Bulley, Cathedral organist. Given in marriage by her father, the bride was a charming figure in her floor-length frock of palest shell pink georgette, with an accordion-pleated bodice and full sleeves, over a taffeta slip with a ruffled hem and a cluster of pink roesbuds at the waistline.

In place of the conventional veil, she wore a hat of palest pink silk lace, with brim of stiffened tulle. She carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses and pale pink carnations. Her sister, Miss Dollie Bradshaw, the only bridesmaid, wore a gown of Marina blue georgette with a tucked bodice and very full sleeves, over blue, and a hat of stitched crepe de Chine of the same shade, trimmed with a knot of French flowers and a tiny veil. She carried a bouquet of pink roses and snapdragons.

Mr. Jack Hamlet was best man, and the ushers were Mr. Vernon Edgelow and Mr. Martin Cave.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's father, Avalon Road, about seventy-five guests being received by Mrs. S. J. Thomson, aunt of the bride, wearing a dress of navy blue georgette with chip straw hat to match and by Mrs. Edgelow, mother of the bridegroom who wore for the occasion a lace dress in cocoa-brown with hat to match. Both wore corsage bouquets of roses and mauve sweet peas.

Fragrant flowers including Easter lilies, daffodils and snapdragons, formed a pretty setting for the reception. Girl friends of the bride, including Mrs. Martin Cave, the Misses Irene McAdam, Winnie Bleasdale and Vidie Ovenden, were responsible for the floral decorations and also assisted in serving refreshments, the table being centred with the wedding cake.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgelow left on the midnight boat for Vancouver from where they will motor to Portland, Oregon, to spend the honeymoon and on their return to Victoria will make their home at 2378 Estevan Avenue. For traveling the bride wore a black and white plaid swagger coat over a two-piece grey suit, a hat in black and a corsage bouquet of white gardenias.

Among the out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mrs. Floyd Malcolm of New Westminster, and Mrs. Paul Jenkins of Lethbridge, Alta.

Included with the many beautiful wedding gifts was a Sheffield silver tea service from the office staff of the Hudson's Bay Company of which the bride has been a member, and a handsome table lamp from the Pickwick and Quarter Cab Company of which the bridegroom is manager.

OLD FEUD OVER ESTATE FLARES

Lydia Pinkham Patent Medicine Business Court Issue

Associated Press

Lynn, Mass., April 17.—Heirs of Lydia E. Pinkham, whose neighborliness led to a $3,000,000 patent medicine business, are still "a-feudin'" about its management, controlled equally by three women and by three men.

Today this deadlock, so implacable the two factions cannot even agree on the size newspaper advertisements should be, rested with the state supreme court for solution.

While this feud of thirty-six years' standing continues, the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Company, still capitalized as it was sixty years ago at only $1,200, goes on returning $7,000 net monthly to the disputants.

Dramatis personae of the suit:

The women—Mrs. Lydia Pinkham Cove, only daughter of the Quaker school teacher who founded the business; her daughters, Miss Lydia P. Cove and Mrs. Caroline Doty, holders and voters jointly of fifty-six shares.

The men—Arthur W. Pinkham, fifty-nine-year-old Lynn banker; his younger brothers, Daniel, thirty-six, and Charles, thirty-five, all grandsons of the original Lydia Pinkham, holders ad voters jointly of the remaining fifty-six shares.

Things have come to such a pass, Miss Lydia related today, that last month she moved for a receivership to throw the business on the auction block and then attempt to buy in the property by outbidding the Pinkham faction.

The Pinkhams went to court themselves last week and obtained a temporary injunction restraining the Coves from pressing the receivership action, but the full bench of the supreme court must pass on the action.

TUNEFUL MUSIC IN NEW OPERA

By M. A.

The world premiere of Basil Horsfall's three-act comic opera, "The Bandit Princess," was given at the Royal Victoria Theatre yesterday evening. Presented by a very capable cast of the Victoria Civic Opera under the baton of its composer, it proved a surprise, for few persons here had been aware—few could have suspected—that an operetta of merit had been in process of creation right here in Victoria.

The libretto and the lyrics are by W. A. Tremayne, who has done a professional job of it for the details of the story of the princess who turns bandit for the nonce to pay off the mortgage on her kingdom is made interesting and the dialogue is fresh and colloquial.

But it was the music composed by Mr. Horsfall and his orchestration of it that gripped the interest of the first night audience. When Mr. Horsfall yesterday evening led his eighteen-piece orchestra into his score, one listened to it with all the excitement that one experienced at a first night of a Victor Herbert operetta, when unforgettable melodies were given to the world. For the music Mr. Horsfall has written for "The Bandit Princess" has that same haunting tunefulness that characterizes the popular numbers of a Victor Herbert score.

Mr. Horsfall's orchestration is richly done and well balanced. He has shown himself a melody maker with ideas and resourcefulness and imagination in carrying them through. The audience yesterday evening at the end of the second act, showed itself conscious of Mr. Horsfall's genius as composer and director by breaking into a storm of applause when he entered to resume his place at the podium. After the final curtain it went home humming his melodies.

The production was brilliantly staged and costumed. The large choruses sang and moved as they should, responding to the masterhand directing those on the stage as well as the instrumentalists in the orchestra pit. The handling of the harmonies at the opening of the second act was particularly noticeable.

Some of Victoria's outstanding musical artists cast in the leading roles were factors in the success of the production. Thelma Johns was cast in the star role of the Bandit Princess. It is a heavy role, to be handled successfully only by someone with the talents and experience of Mrs. Johns. Fraser Lister had scope for his appreciated comic instincts, as well as his singing abilities. He appeared as a bespectacled, flat-heeled Scot in full kilts. Dudley Wickett won plaudits for his singing as Lieut. D'Alvarez, the lover. Kay Barraclough sang the role of Donna Lola, head of a dairy farm; Ursula Aldous was Pepita, a milkmaid; Gladys Elliott, Maria, a milkmaid; T. Harry Johns, the Duke of Scavalgaroz, uncle of the princess; Norman Tyrrell, the Chinese laundryman; David B. Hunter and Douglas Hodgson, dairy farm workers.

J. Kent-Pawkes was Baron Solomon Googlestein, an Austrian financier; Edith M. Hemberow and Vera Bailey were the pages, and George Fox the footman.

The singing dairymaids, farm hands, villagers, soldiers and courtiers included: Adelaide Marshall, Vera Bailey, Eleanor Bell, Clara Bowman, Marjory Barker, Olive Batchelor, Amy Alexander, Dorothy Cave, Muriel Dunsmuir, Gladys Elliott, Kathleen Elliott, Edith Hemberow, Elspeth Holloway, Kitty Hole, Nan Hill, Flo Kelly, Gertrude Landman, Rene Lindgren, Josephine Larindi, Edith Lemon, Josephine Murray, Isobel Munn, Margaret Mackie, Vivian McCahill, Constance Plimley, Dorothy Parsons, Constance Ross, Hazel Sherratt, Ruth Shepherd Stewart, Eva Willoughby, Rene McLachlin, Don Brake, Clarey Durbin, George G. Edwardson, Douglas Hodgson, James Mathieson, George Fox, Gibson Mackie, Alec McGown, Percy Ridgley, Kurt Shaver and Ellis Todd.

One of Dorothy Wilson's well-trained ballets with castanets and tambourines, presented a lively Spanish dance in the second act to one of Mr. Horsfall's orchestral numbers.

"The Bandit Princess" will be repeated this evening and tomorrow evening at the Royal Victoria.

"Was there anything else you wanted?"

"Yes," he said, "there's something I want very much. I want you to have dinner with me tonight. I'll be waiting for you—any time you say. Or, if you'd rather, I'll pick you up somewhere—"

Toby smiled, but shook her head. "I'm sorry," she said. "I can't."

"But it's perfectly all right. Why shouldn't you? I'm as harmless as the day is long. Honestly. You're the prettiest girl I've seen in months and I want to know you better. We'll go anywhere you say—"

Toby said again, "I can't—really."

"Oh but you'll change your mind! A girl like you couldn't be hard hearted. Now, listen, when the store closes I'll be waiting for you."

Toby didn't bother to object to that. A customer had paused at the other end of the counter and she hurried toward her. When she looked back a little later the young man was gone.

* * *

Toby thought of the $59.60 in her sales book. It certainly wasn't every day that you made sales like that in the costume jewelry. Maybe she'd get a bonus this week. If she did, she could buy the shoes she needed and galoshes.

He really was a nice looking young man. There was something about him that was rather—rather exciting. Oh, well, she'd never see him again. That was the end of that.

But the day that had begun in such an ordinary fashion had more in store for Toby Ryan—much more.

The oddest thing about it was that it all happened so naturally. It was a few minutes past 3 when Miss Burrows, the jewelry buyer, approached Toby. "The artists have finished with those watches we sent up to have sketched for the Saturday advertisement," she said. "Will you go up and bring them down? Ask for Mr. Keller. He'll get them for you."

Toby said, "Yes, Miss Burrows."

She knew exactly what to do; she had gone on such errands before. Toby stepped into the elevator and said, "Ninth floor." She liked going to the advertising office. It was so different from the rows and rows of counters on the first floor. Cluttered and rather disorderly, with the artists, in ink-spattered smocks, working near the windows and three or four young men and women at desks in the foreground. Bill Brandt worked in an advertising office, too. Toby felt that knowing what Bergman's advertising department was like made her understand more clearly when Bill talked about his work.

She entered the big room, hesitated, and then went up to the nearest desk. "Is Mr. Keller here?" Toby asked.

The door of the private office opened just then and a man stepped out. It was Mr. Keller, the art director, and Toby recognized him.

She hurried forward. "Miss Burrows sent me for the watches that were sketched," she said.

"Oh yes." Thee art director crossed to a desk, picked up our tiny watches attached to bracelets. Three of them were yellow gold discs. The fourth was the handsome "debutante special," white gold with tiny diamonds gleaming on either side of the oblong face. "Here they are," he said, and put them in Toby's hand.

She looked down at the watches. The glistening handful, she knew, was worth something like $250.

CHAPTER V

If Toby Ryan, stepping out of the elevator on the first floor ofg Bergman's department store, had turned to the left instead of the right, it is possible that none of the things that happened that afternoon would have taken place.

Toby could have reached the jewelry department either way. The distance was exactly the same.

By turning to the right she passed the silverware counters.

She was carrying the four wrist watches in her hand. An alert, business-like little figure, Toby moved quickly. As she passed the silverware department Mr. Pharis, the young buyer, stepped into the aisle. He said, "If you're going in for smuggling you must be an amateur. That's not the way—".

He was smiling good-naturedly. Toby couldn't very well brush past him. She said, indicating the watches, "I've just brought them from the [illegible] a sketch of them."

Mr. Pharis picked up the tiny "debutante special." "How much is this one?" he asked.

"Seventy-nine fifty."

"$79.50."

"Good little watch," Mr. Pharis nodded. He turned it over, examining the other side. "Looks to me," he went on, "like a good value."

Toby agreed that she thought it was.

Maurine Ball, two counters beyond, glanced up just them. Maurine saw Mr. Pharis with his head bent slightly and Toby listening, nodding in agreement. Maurine didn't see the watches. But she knew that when Mr. Pharis looked at her like that, invariably he asked for a date. She concluded, therefore, that he was making a date with Toby.

Anger, consuming and unreasoning, swept over Maurine. The day before, then Toby had been chosen to pose for the advertising photographs. It had been a blow to the other girl's pride. This was much worse!

Maurine's face, above the carefully pencled crimson lips, went white, and the customer, asking the price of the charm bracelet, had to repeat her question.

* * *

It was only a few moments later that Toby slipped the watches into their place on the satin folds inside the counter. Then she got out the brown-covered book in which merchandise borrowed by other departments was listed. It was a rule that merchandise taken anywhere else in the store must be "signed out" and "signed in" with the name of the person to whom it was entrusted.

Toby, about to sign for the watches, looked up to see Maurine beside her. She did not notice that the other girl seemed agitated.

Maurine, controlled her voice well. "There's a woman over there," she said with a nod, "who's been waiting for you."

Toby turned, and instantly remembered. It was the woman in the leopard coat — the one who had bought the compact and then discovered she lacked money to pay for it.

The woman looked up and recognized Toby. The girl smiled and hurried forward. "You've come for your package, haven't you?" Toby said. "It's right here. I'll get it—"

She turned to the wrapping desk and was back with the package. "I hope you'll like it," she said, handing the package across the counter.

The Truth About Diet

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

Once people thought it was unsafe to eat oysters in a month without an "R." Nowadays we know that when oysters are shipped, they are just as safe in one season of the year as in another.

Dr. M. Fishbein

The oyster is a valuable food, because it is especially rich in certain vitamins, in iodine, and in nutritious protein.

Other shellfish in wide use are clams, mussels, scallops, lobsters, crabs, shrimps, and crayfish.

Because of the feeding habits of the shellfish they are likely to contain considerable numbers of bacteria which are characteristic of the water in which they are grown. From time to time polluted waters have given rise to epidemics of typhoid fever following the eating of oysters raised in such waters.

In one epidemic, which occurred in 1894, members of various college fraternities at Wesleyan University had eaten oysters contaminated with typhoid germs. All the oysters were found to have come from one dealer

* * *

As a result of these early observations, various states have passed laws which control the pollution of water in which oysters are grown, as well as the manner of shipment. Oysters are shipped into New York City from New York State, Connecticut, Delaware, New Jersey, Virginia and Massachusetts, as well as from the places already mentioned.

Shippers have to submit certificates to the effect that the oysters and the shellfish beds are free from contamination. They must certify also that every handler of the shellfish is free from infectious disease in communicable form.

The oyster crop of the United States represents two-thirds of the world's supply. About 17,000,000 bushels of oysters are consumed every year. The value of the crop approximates $18,000,000.

About one-fifth of all the oysters produced are canned. The original centre of the industry was Baltimore, but now Mississippi and South Carolina also produce many oysters.

* * *

Shellfish, like oysters, are 86 per cent water, 6.2 per cent protein, 1.2 per cent fat and 3.7 per cent carbohydrate, the remainder being ash, which contains the mineral salts. The scallop and the shrimp provide much more protein, namely, 15 and 19 per cent respectively, and much less water and carbohydrate.

Oysters are a rich source of iron and copper, and also contain rather large amounts of zinc. As I have already said, they are exceedingly rich in iodine.

Oysters also provide liberal amounts of vitamin A and are a good source of vitamin B-1 and B-2.

In addition, there is some vitamin C and vitamin D, but the amounts are not significant, particularly when compared with the richness of the liver of the fish in vitamin D.

TODAY'S HEALTH QUESTION

Q.—Whenever my husband sleeps on his back, he snores. Could you tell me what is wrong?

A.—If there are obstructions in the nose or throat, they should have the attention of a doctor who, after making a suitable diagnosis, will correct the condition. If the snoring occurs only when your husband sleeps on his back, he can be gently turned over.

MAY REVIVE DISUSED ACT

Oak Bay Wants to Know Position With Regard to 1910 Legislation

The possibility that Oak Bay may seek to make use of an act which has never been invoked for the last twenty-three years appeared at yesterday afternoon's meeting of the municipal council.

The question arose out of receipt of a letter from the municipal solicitors in connection with the charging of sewer local improvements. The letter quoted the provincial act to the effect that such improvements must be charged to both sides of the street, even when one side cannot make use of the sewer.

In the case in question, the improvements have been made on a street which runs transversally across a hillside. By the laws of gravity, it is impossible to make connections from the downhill side of the street to connect with the sewer.

However, provision for such cases is made in the Oak Bay Act, which came into effect in 1910, and which was superceded by the provincial act in 1913.

There is no indication that this local act was ever repealed.

The letter received yesterday claimed an undertaking had been given the Attorney-General in 1913 that the municipality would no longer make use of the act.

Yesterday the council contended that no such undertaking had ever been given.

The matter will be referred to the Deputy Minister of Municipalities so that the municipality can know just where it stands with regard to the disused act

WILL DISCUSS SCHOOL SAFETY

School Trustees Seek Conference With Commission on Traffic

Traffic protection for children at city schools will be discussed at a joint meeting of representatives of the City School Board and Police Commission if the latter accedes to a request for a meeting forwarded by the trustees yesterday evening.

The proposal arose out of a letter from Walter S. Miles, in which he drew attention to the menace to children around city schools at noon hour and times when the children are going to and leaving the institutions.

The chief trouble, Mr. Miles said, was speeding by motorists through the school zones, and he felt some measure should be introduced to stop this. Police were handling all they could to try and meet the problem, but Mr. Miles thought something should be done by the school board.

The letter was referred to the police commission, and it was agreed arrangements should be made for a conference between the commission and Trustees W. C. Moresby and W. E. Staneland to discuss the letter and general problems arising out of it.

Rock Crusher Travels Again

Oak Bay Machine Demoted from Gonzales Hill to Chinese Cemetery Area; Is Hated by Everyone

Oak Bay's veteran rock-crusher, chased from pillar to post through the years, will go traveling again.

The municipal council yesterday ordered it moved from its present resting place on King George Terrace, up on Gonzales Hill, down to Maquinna Road, by the Chinese cemetery.

"Nobody likes the crusher," said R. F. Blandy, municipal clerk.

The machine has been moved from time to time all over the municipality. Some of its longest spells were put in on Brighton Place and later on Transit Road.

The crusher's present position is at the entrance of a nameless and unmade street at the top of the hill. Passing motorists know its gaunt frame well, and have been known to use it as a landmark, but the residents of the district do not like the machine at all.

Now it appears that the crusher's none-too-graceful stern is squatting across a property line. If it did not want to move the machine the municipality would have to buy the whole lot in question.

The move will mean a spring overhaul for the crusher, which has got to have its wheels repaired. At present they will not turn. The new journey will cost the municipality about $85, it is estimated.

The clerk assured the council that the crusher could remain for three years on Maquinna Road without disturbing anyone. After that it will probably have to go traveling again.

A suggestion that it be moved to the Uplands was turned down, not because of the high aspirations of that district, but owing to the low quality of the rock to be found there.

Junior Conservatives Select 1936 Officers

The Junior Conservative Association of Victoria last night re-elected Thomas Wood as president, and named the following other officers: First vice-president, John Matt; second vice-president, James Carlin; secretary-treasurer, Miss Ann Chesworth, and ward represetnatives as follows: Ward One, Frank Flighte; Ward Three, Miss May Lewis; Ward Four, Raymond Wakeman; Ward Five, Henry Matt, and Wards Six and Seven, Eunice Davies.

The annual meeting was held in the Campbell Building. Election of officers was conducted by E. W. Maynard, president of the Victoria Conservative Association, who gave a brief talk on organization matters.

Dancing and refreshments followed.

Want Highway Hard-surfaced

Ladysmith, April 17.—Condition of the Island Highway at certain points between Ladysmith and Chemainus will be taken up by the Ladysmith Board of Trade. The board will bring to the attention of the authorities that the seven-mile stretch between Ladysmith and Chemainus sustains the heaviest traffic on the highway as there is a daily movement of mill-employee cars in addition to the ordinary traffic, and will ask for permanent asphalt-concrete surfacing on the highway between the two towns.

Expert opinion will be sought on the notorious rock that menaces the inner entrance to Porlier Pass, with a view towards asking the Department of Marine to have the rock blasted down to the safety mark. This matter has been taken up before, but no satisfactory conclusion was reached. It was pointed out that the existence of the dangerous rock has a tendency to discourage the use of the pass as an entrance to local harborage.

The board deferred appointment of two delegates to the annual convention of the associated boards at Qualicum Beach.

Councillors W. R. Woods, E. G. Warren, A. G. Lambrick and H. D. Coton were appointed a committee to consider tenders for insurance of municipal vehicles at last night's meeting of the Saanich Council. Four tenders, one board and three non-board, were received. The approximate total of insurance is $17,000.

The Saanich Council last night gave final passing to a by-law covering a zoning arrangement for Ward Three.

A grant of $10 was made to the B.C. Safety League last night by the Saanich Council.

OUTLINE BIG HEALTH PLAN

Dr. H. E. Young Tells School Trustees of Scheme For Metropolitan Area

A metropolitan health area for Greater Victoria as a means to uniformly administer disease prevention and do away with present overlapping of services, was proposed by Dr. H. E. Young, provincial director of health, at a meeting of the City School Board yesterday evening, attended by Oak Bay and Esquimalt representatives.

The outcome of the conference was the granting of permission to the provincial health office to make a survey of health costs in the city and submit a definite plan for the creation of a metropolitan area. The survey is to be made with approval of the City Council, which will be requested to permit examination of information necessary to complete the survey, after which the entire scheme will be placed before a conference of council and school board representatives of the city and the two municipalities

The proposal was based on the present system in operation in North Vancouver under Dr. Greig Amyot son of the first deputy minister of health in the Dominion Government, who has been active with Dr. Young in his plans for metropolitan health areas in British Columbia. Dr. Amyot also spoke at the meeting, illustrating the proposal with graphs.

PREVENTION IS PURPOSE

In outlining the need for the uniform service Dr. Young said at present there was no real understanding of the purport of health work, which was disease prevention. There was need for the administration of disease prevention by trained experts.

The purpose of his visit was to acquaint the trustees with the work in North Vancouver and the proposal for Greater Vancouver, which included Vancouver, North Vancouver, Burnaby, West Vancouver, Richmond and Point Grey.

There were seven different municipal governments and school boards in this area, he said, and the scheme would prevent all overlapping, which now existed under these different administrations.

ECONOMICALLY SOUND

Introduction of a metropolitan health area for Victoria, Oak Bay and Esquimalt, similar to that in effect in Saanich, was economically sound, and would provide proper organization, efficient service and less conflict between those at present in charge. The results would bring better health and improvement in educational service, he said.

Dr. Amyot substantiated Dr. Young's words with graphs, which illustrated the control under a metropolitan service and how it prevented the extensive overlapping of the present day.

It would amalgamate all services at present given separately by councils and school boards, he said.

EXPLAINS ADMINISTRATION

The administration, he explained, was under a metropolitan health board, members of which were representatives from councils and school boards in each of the municipalities under the scheme. Directly responsible to the board would be the senior health officer, who would be in full charge of the whole area. Under him there would be lieutenants who would be specialists in the various branches of the department and further down in the chart was an assistant medical health officer who was the direct contact with the experts in charge of each unit of the area.

The meeting was called after an interview between Chairman W. C. Moresby and Dr. Young, at which a successor to the late Dr. David Donald, school health officer, was discussed.

The visiting presentatives were S. J. Drake of the Oak Bay School Board, and Major A. A. Warder of Esquimalt.

At the suggestion of S. J. Drake it was felt the proposal should go before a conference of all council and school board representatives.

Trustee Mrs. D. L. McLaurin moved a resolution to this effect.

Box And Cox Case Over Subdivision

Oak Bay Approving Officer Is Demoted One Day to Get Around Problem of Writing Letters to Himself

An amusing "Box and Cox" story came up at yesterday's Oak Bay Council meeting with one officer being demoted for one day to get around the problem of writing letters to himself, and then approving his own subdivision.

A. S. G. Musgrave, the municipality's Approving Officer, is also a surveyor. Yesterday he submitted plans of a new subdivision at Shoal Bay, at the corner of Victoria Avenue and Beach Drive.

R. F. Blandy, municipal clerk, was appointed Approving Officer for twenty-four hours to sign the necessary papers.

The Oak Bay Council yesterday ordered a donation of $50 to the Victoria Day Celebration committee.

Uphold Dismissal of School Board Worker

Trustees Discuss Charges of Trades and Labor Council; Works Superintendent to Appear Before Board at Next Meeting For Questioning

Charges of the Trades and Labor Council that irregularities were prevalent in the dismissal of A. Weatherell from the works staff of the City School Board by the building and grounds committee, were answered by trustees at a meeting of the board yesterday evening which sat until near midnight.

To all specific allegations of the Trades Council, the trustees passed motions in rebuttal. It was also decided that Major A. C. Hinton, whose competency as works superintendent was questioned, would have an opportunity to place his own case before the board.

It was also brought to light that the discontinuance of Mr. Weatherell's services as a day laborer was effected by a meeting of the grounds committee before Trustee J. Wallace attended the meeting of the committee.

The trustees took no action on a suggestion from Trustee W. E. Staneland that the personnel of the committee be changed and the whole board sit as a public works committee, as is done in the municipalities.

In opening the discussion on the charges of the Trades Council, W. C. Moresby, chairman, said he had prepared a memorandum for the discussion with various headings under which the issue could be dealt with. On his suggestion the meeting dealt with the charges in the order in which they were stated in the Trades and Labor Council complaint.

First was the charge that Mr. Weatherell was dismissed from the board without just cause. On motion of Trustee Bishop, seconded by Trustee Staneland, the Trades Council was notified that the employment of Mr. Weatherell was discontinued owing to the fact that his services were reported as unsatisfactory by the works superintendent and in view of the decision of the works committee to distribute day labor.

SEVERAL COMPLAINTS

Trustee George said he did not recall Major Hinton saying Weatherell's work was not satisfactory. On three or four occasions Major Hinton had reported to him as chairman of the grounds committee that Weatherell was not filling in his time properly and on occasions was arriving late at work and leaving early, Trustee George said. In view of this the committee had felt justified in the dismissal.

"How did you know the superintendent was justified?" asked Trustee Wallace. The man had been working for between eight and nine years, and Major Hinton apparently was saying he had loafed during the whole of that time, Trustee Wallace said.

Trustee Staneland wanted to know if Weatherell was advised of his status and called before the committee.

Trustee George replied first to Trustee Wallace that he personally had felt Major Hinton was justified in view of the previous complaints which the major had made to him.

To Trustee Staneland he said he had never known it to be the policy of the grounds committee to call before it any employee whose work was being questioned. Trustee George said he had, however, told Major Hinton to warn Weatherell on each of the occasions when the complaints had been made to him (Trustee George).

In rising to take part in the debate, Trustee Mrs. D. L. McLaurin quoted from a clipping of The Times dealing with the last meeting and complimented the fair report of the meeting which the story gave. She did, however, want to correct an impression that the dismissal had been effected by the board. This was not the case, the building and grounds committee having taken this action, she said. She asked when Weatherall's salary was increased last year and was told it was about May. At that time Weatherell had started work at the Oaklands School with a man under him and his wages automatically increased twenty-five cents a day as foreman, Trustee George told her.

"If a man receives extra pay he has every right to suppose he is a superior workman and fully competent," Mrs. McLaurin said. But then, just after he had received an increase he had been told he was incompetent, and Mrs. McLaurin thought it difficult for those trustees who were not members of the committee to understand why there had been a change of heart.

Trustee George said the raise was not given in recognition of superior work but because he had automatically become the foreman on this particular job. It was his duty as such to be on the job earlier and prepare the paint and brushes for his assistant, he said.

CLARIFIES POSITION

Trustee George said he wanted to make his position quite plain in order to clear up any possible misunderstanding as he had felt this issue more than any other member of the board. The committee, he said, had acted solely on the recommendation of the works superintendent as had been the custom in the past to rely on the opinions of those in charge of the work.

Trustee Wallace then charged that the dismissal had been effected before he attended the meeting and that on the way home that evening Major Hinton had told him (Trustee Wallace) that he would probably take Weatherell back if he made certain apologies, but he had felt the action was necessary to discipline Weatherell.

Chairman Moresby observed it had been the practice for years to take the recommendation of the superintendent in such an instance. He pointed out that Weatherell had not been dismissed but rather "his services were discontinued" as a day laborer in view of the committee's decision to distribute this work.

Trustee Staneland could draw little difference between a man being dismissed and having his services discontinued.

The second charge questioning whether or not Major Hinton was justified in recommending the dismissal was put over until such time as the board heard Major Hinton's views on the case at a later meeting.

"How do we know if Major Hinton was justified?" asked Trustee Staneland. "We have to take the word of the grounds committee chairman. I think we should have the committee of the whole board sit as a public works committee."

Trustee Bishop then took issue with the apparent ignorance of Trustees Wallace, Staneland and Mrs. McLaurin with the facts of the case.

"Trustee Wallace is a member of that committee and when he is not too busy working for the government he should be acquainted with this," he said.

"The trouble is that when the works superintendent wants to discuss anything about the buildings and grounds he goes and sees Trustee Bishop and Wallace knows nothing about it" was Trustee Wallace's reply.

The third question, that of the committee's action in adopting the recommendation for dismissal, was also left over until after Major Hinton had appeared before the board.

QUESTION RULED OUT

The next issue was the charge that Trustee Kenneth Ferguson had violated his oath of office in being instrumental in having the dismissal made because Weatherall would not take out a life insurance policy with him.

In reply to this, the board supported a motion moved by Trustee Bishop and seconded by Trustee Staneland, that the board had no power to make inquiries into whether a member had violated his oath of office.

The question of Major Hinton's competency as works superintendent of the board, also raised by the Labor men, was also deferred to the later meeting.

Charges of the Trades and Labor Council that Trustees Bishop and Ferguson had acted improperly in speaking to Weatherell while he was working and telling him to "get a move on," etc., were flatly denied by both trustees.

"I think that my word is as good as Weatherell's," said Trustee Bishop, "and I flatly deny that I ever said any such thing to him."

RELATIONS WERE FRIENDLY

As a member of the grounds committee he had always enjoyed friendly relations with the workmen and there had never been any evidence of anything but amity between them, he said.

Trustee Ferguson took the same stand and also flatly denied he had ever uttered such words as those suggested by Weatherell in his complaint to the Trades Council.

On motion of Mrs. McLaurin, seconded by Trustee Staneland, it was decided to notify the labor council that the two trustees in question both denied they had wrongfully injured with the work of Weatherall in his capacity as an employee of the board.

Victoria Daily Times

SECOND SECTION — VICTORIA, B.C., FRIDAY, APRIL 17, 1936 — SECOND SECTION

B.C. Women's Golf Championship Scheduled Next Month

THE SPORTS MIRROR

By ART STOTT

THOSE surprising Dominoes substitutes must have more than fingers on the ball when they play—although local followers probably wouldn't realize it from their inactivity in the last exhibition season.

* * *

Ollie Goldsmith languished a long time on the bench before play-off necessities drove him into the British Columbia finals against Vancouver Province. When he got in the game he showed so much ability and fight that he was credited with being the driving force in Victoria's victory.

* * *

Now Jack Mottishaw, Duncan star, who nearly wore out the seat of his pants watching games from the sidelines, has jumped into the limelight. Jack went in when personals took three of the regulars off the floor. And he hadn't been in many seconds when he scored an all-important basket, from a psychological point of view.

* * *

Alex. McKeachie has played very steady ball when called upon for relief duty. Now Axel Kinnear is the only man who has to win his spurs. He still has the Western Canada finals and possibly the national series to prove himself.

* * *

Alberta sports followers, partial to their own province, nursed hopes of winning the series until the very end, to judge from sports comment by Dick Matthews, of The Lethbridge Herald. And there was a lot of reason for their hopes, too, according to reports on the game.

* * *

"While it was typical playoff basketball, frankly we were plenty disappointed at the brand of play in last night's Raymond-Victoria battle. We had been led to believe the Dominoes were at least 50 per cent better than the team of Victoria Blue Ribbons which defeated Union Jacks at Victoria in 1933.

* * *

"Judging on last night's game I should say they were 50 per cent inferior. Their ball-handling and floor work was superior to Jacks, but not to such an extent that the Sugar City club could not have beaten them. Jacks can point to a total of twelve foul shots missed out of a total of sixteen. Dominoes made ten out of twenty attempts.

"That's the whole story.

* * *

"If Jacks had sunk half their gratis heaves they would have tied the B.C. champs—if they had counted one more than half their total of sixteen, they would have won.

* * *

"Coach Burle Robinson and Jacks needn't take a thing from this Victoria club, for if Dominoes were off form, so were Jacks. They missed plenty of chances around the hoop that ordinarily would have been made with ease.

* * *

"While the coast champions' blocking and screening plays frequently left them a broad lane to the hemp, Jacks tightened up as the game wore on and Dominoes had to get right out and battle for points. They were forced to insert lanky "Red" Martin into the fray in the second half, despite the fact the big forward was noticeably limping from the effects of an ankle injury suffered in Calgary Sunday.

* * *

"Wednesday night's game can quite easily tell a different tale, this time in Raymond's favor."

Bike circles here are looking forward at present with more confidence to the establishment of a regulation pine track than they have done for many a year. Those connected with negotiations believe they have reached a point where definite plans can be laid for the establishment of such a saucer, where local amateurs could develop to a point where they could challenge the best on the continent.

* * *

Torchy Peden and Lew Rush, whose experience in both amateur and professional ranks stamp them as experts on the matter, are unanimous in stating Victoria has as good material as any point on the continent. All that is needed to whip that material into first-class shape is outside competition. And if the pine track is secured, outstanding riders, not necessarily amateurs, could be induced to pay visits to this city, they feel

* * *

Preliminary arrangements have progressed so far that Lew Rush, who has given the question his undivided attention for some time, hopes to lay before local lumber companies financial guarantees which will prove to them the earnestness of the local cycle fraternity. When those guarantees are shown, he is reasonably sure of having construction work started

* * *

Definite word on the project is expected within the next two weeks. If arrangements are carried through, the track, a permanent fixture, will be ready for use this summer.

Victoria had three alternative suggestions for referees for the western Canada basketball semi-finals, Jack Taylor, head of the local loop, said today, in explanation of the selection of Alf Perrin, Vancouver. When Ralph Thomas was unable to accompany the Dominoes east, the city was told a Winnipeg man or a Lethbridge whistle blower was available for service in Raymond. The Dominion champions held out for a British Columbia man. Local referees were declared ineligible by the powers that be and Alf Perrin was selected as the next closest to home, in view of the fact he was acquainted with the type of ball played on the coast.

Play To Start At Shaughnessy Monday, May 11

Strong Victoria Contingent Expected to Compete, Following Huntting Cup Match

NEW CHAMPION TO BE NAMED

Seeking the title won last year by Mrs. J. Hutchinson of the Victoria Golf Club, leading feminine shot makers from all parts of the province, will meet in Vancouver for the annual British Columbia branch of the Canadian Ladies' Golf Union championship from May 11 to 15, it was announced today.

The tournament will be played over the Shaughnessy course.

The event will follow the regular Huntting Cup play between a team chosen from Victoria Golf Club and City, and one from Shaughnessy and Jericho, representing Vancouver.

Mrs. Hutchinson will not play in defence of her championship, it was learned today. Ill-health has kept her from the course and the title will be left open to the field.

HUNTTING CUP PROSPECTS

Victoria will send an exceptionally strong team, chosen from Colwood and Victoria Golf Club stars, to Vancouver for the Huntting Cup match. While the personnel of the squad has not been decided, several of the leading city players are mentioned for the team.

Marjorie Todd, Phyllis and Peggy Hodgson, Mrs. B. R. Philbrick, Mrs Hew Paterson, Mrs. Alan Morkill and Mrs. V. S. Godfrey are considered possible members.

The team will play the combined forces of Shaughnessy and Jericho clubs in the event, won last year by the Victorians at Colwood.

With the Huntting Cup team expected to form the bac bone of Victoria's representation in the provincial play, the Capital City should have several outstanding performers entered in the championship.

PROGRAMME

Starting Monday, May 11, the qualifying round will be played over eighteen holes medal play. The first sixteen will enter the championship flight and the rest will be divided into flights of eight each.

On Tuesday, following the first B.C. championship round, and flight play, the annual meeting will be held.

The championship flight and others than the first flight will go into the second round on Wednesday, over the eighteen-hole route.

Championship and first flight semi-finals will be played on Thursday, along with flight finals. Long driving and approaching competitions are scheduled for the day.

The champion will be named on Friday, when the two survivors meet over the thirty-six-hole route. The first flight final will be played over eighteen holes the same day.

Aussie Net Aces Pay City Visit

On their way to the eastern United States, where they will meet representatives of that country in zone play, the Australian Davis Cup tennis team was scheduled to make a brief visit to Victoria today. The team was reported aboard Ms. Niagara, due to arrive at the Outer Wharf about 3 o'clock. The team includes Adrian Quist, Vivian McGrath, Jack Crawford and Cliff Sproule. They are scheduled to play exhibitions in Vancouver before proceeding east.

HUSKIES TO MEET BEARS

California Oarsmen Slight Favorites For Crew Classic Tomorrow

Seattle, April 17. — The famous rowing crews of California and Washington start their "race to Berlin" here tomorrow when they battle for Pacific Coast supremacy for the thirty-third time on the fickle waters of Lake Washington.

Rival coaches—Ky Ebright of Californa and Al Ulbrickson of Washington—feel that victory at this regatta, one of the athletic classic of the west, may furnish the spark that will send either the Bears or the Huskies to the August Olympics.

But they refused to make a prediction.

On paper, however, California appears to have an edge in the Varsity and freshmen races, and Washington in the junior Varsity.

Although California has won the last two Olympic championships and the last three national titles, the Bears will be seeking their first triumph in four years over Washington in this private engagement.

BEAVERS IN COAST LEAD

Tom Flynn Scores Shutout Over Angeles; Seattle Downs Seals

Associated Press

Seattle, April 17. — Portland's Beavers clambered over the San Francisco Seals into the first division today in their rapid rise from near the bottom of the coast baseball heap.

With the Beavers' aid, the Sacramento Senators opened the circuit's cellar door to let the once high-flying Angels flop in.

Credit for Portland's rise yesterday belongs largely to Tom Flynn, lone left hander on the Beaver mound staff, who shut out Los Angeles, 4 to 0, allowing only six singles, and ended the sixteen game consecutive hitting streak of Bobby Mattick, Angel shortstop, and one of the circuit's leading stickmen.

Seattle's 6 to 2 win over the Seals was an essential part of the Beavers advance.

SENATORS BEAT MISSIONS

Branch Rickey's young Senators backed up Henry Pippen's neat pitching with solid hitting, including homers by Jim Grilk and Buster Adams, to trounce the Missions, 6 to 1. A costly error by Shortstop Clude Beck helped the Sacramentons to four runs in the fourth.

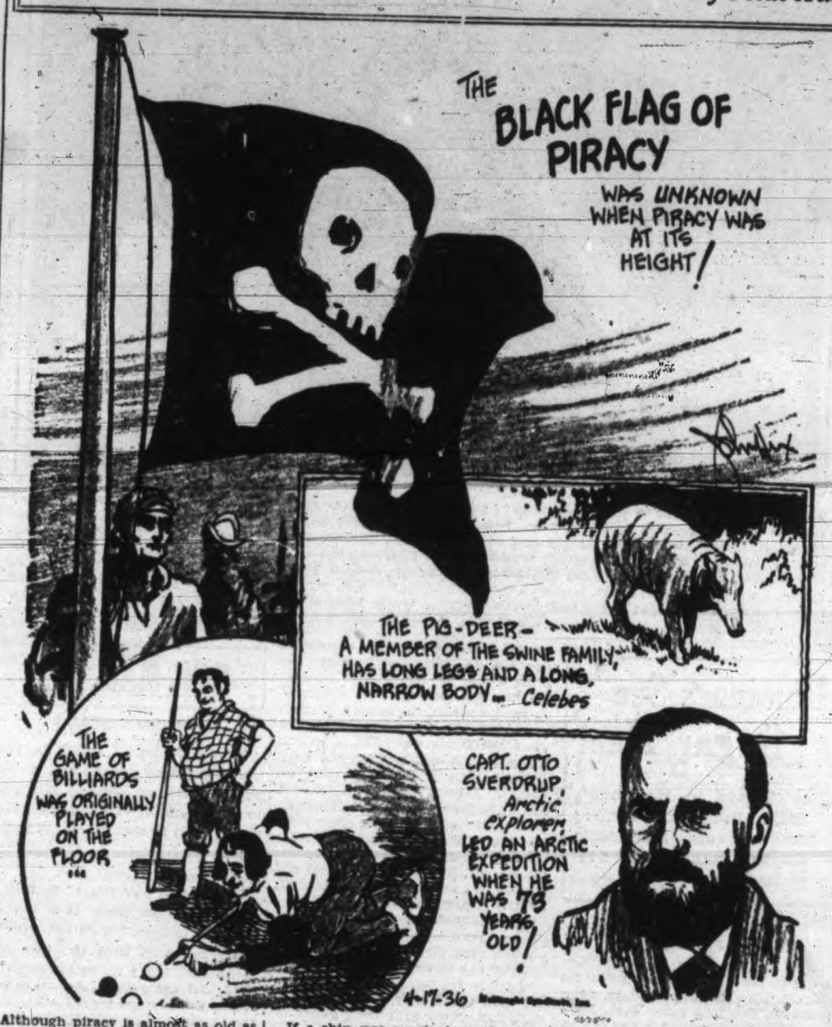
STRANGE AS IT SEEMS

—By John Hix



Although piracy is almost as old as seafaring itself, the period now generally associated with pirate days was that during the seventeenth century when sea-robbers began to infest the West Indies. In the early days of this period of piracy, many of the hostile acts against shipping were committed by privateers—that is, sea captains who were authorized by one nation to carry on a private war against the shipping of another nation. Although there is a fine legal distinction between privateering and piracy, the results proved to be about the same in either case.

If a ship was a privateer, it sailed the flag of its country and committed acts tantamount to piracy. Others who were out and out pirates also flew flags of whatever nation pleased them. Sometimes a privateer-pirate got authorization from more than one government and thus was able to claim protection of the same governments whose shipping he attacked.

It was not until after the balmiest days of piracy on the Spanish Main were over that pirates generally disclaimed all nationality, adopted the black flag with skull and crossbones, and declared war on all shipping. But by then the tide of public feeling had turned, and piracy was on the wane. In the early days colonists of Spain, England and France, who were compelled to trade with their mother countries, welcomed the contraband goods that the pirates were able to supply.

The babirusa is a true swine, but natives of Celebes, in the Malay Archipelago, call it the "pig-deer" because of its body, which more resembles that of a tiny deer than a pig. This pig, unlike almost all others, is a good swimmer.

Ottawa Rangers Defeat Windsor

Fords Lose First of Two-of-three-game Basketball Series to National Capital 32 to 28

Ottawa, April 17. — Windsor's Fords, combined forces of teams which have gained Canada's basketball finals in former years, were a game down in their two-of-three series for the eastern Canada championship today. Yesterday evening they were surprised by a fast-rallying Ottawa Rangers squad, which came from behind to take the first fixture 32 to 28. The teams meet again tonight and will play a third game, if necessary, tomorrow evening.

Windsor started well and held the Ottawans in subjection for the first half of the game. Julius Goldman, professor of technology at Detroit University, scored first on a free shot. Irving Meretsky made it 3 to 0 for Windsor on two free throws before Louis Bonnenfant, high-scoring Ranger forward, retaliated on a free shot.

TAKE LEAD

The visitors drew away still farther on field baskets by Goldman and Gordon Aitchison and another foul shot by Meretsky. Wib Nixon and Horace Higgs with goals, and Ernie Wall with a foul shot, however, kept the home team in the running. Malcolm Wiseman's two quick field baskets with a free shot sandwiched in between ended the scoring for the first half, with the visitors leading 13 to 6.

Rangers started to click when play resumed and ran in fifteen points without retaliation by their opponents to take over the lead they held for the remainder of the game.

New Yorker Wins Billiard Title

Associated Press

New York, April 17.—Edward Lee of New York wore the world's amateur three cushion billiards crown to-day, bringing the title to the United States for the first time as the championship tournament came to its last day.

Lee clinched the title yesterday evening when he gave a sound trouncing to Hendricks Robyns of Holland, 50 to 35 for his sixth straight victory.

MANY PUPPIES FOR DOG SHOW

Victoria City Kennel Club Will Stage Afternoon and Evening Shows

From wiry coated wee Scotties and silky smooth Boston terriers to shaggy collies and long-eared setters, a good entry of canine pets is expected for tomorrow's dog show in the Shrine auditorium under the auspices of the Victoria City Kennel Club.

There will be lots of yelping and barking when the youngsters parade their favorites at the matinee show which will begin at 3 o'clock and is open to children only. The 7 o'clock show will be an open afair and is expected to draw entries from the majority of local kennels.

Puppies will be the outstanding representation in both the afternoon and evening shows, as there have been a great many of them born in the city during the winter months

SPECIAL PRIZE

An electric clock will be given for the best dog of all breeds in the show, while cups will be given for the best brace, the best novice and the best puppy in the show.

SWIM HEADS RE-ELECTED

Pacific Club Officers Returned at Annual Meeting; Reports Given

Pacific Swimming Club performers placed in 163 events of 194, in which they entered in sixteen galas last season, Ernie Peden, president of the club, told members at their annual meeting and banquet at the Douglas Hotel yesterday evening.

Peden was returned as head of the club and George Bone, Mona Bradford and Frank Hyslop were re-elected vice-president, secretary-treasurer and coach respective. Eleanor Peden replaced Mary Joidge as women's captain and Vic Little was returned as men's skipper.

Entries had been made by the club in 194 events. Of those Pacific swimmers won sixty, placed second in fifty-seven and third in forty-six.

The club approved in general the suggestion to promote with other local swimming outfits that meets during the early summer and throughout the coming season. Plans for such meets were left in abeyance, with the understanding negotiations would proceed with the Y.M.C.A. and the V.A.S.C. in the near future.

Sickness, Injuries and Form Reversals Enter Major Leagues

Cronin, Chapman Bartell Suffer; Foxx Shows Form

Paul Dean Beaten as Cubs Humble Cards 5 to 3; Giants Down Brooklyn

Small Crowd Sees Phillies Win Game

By ANDY CLARKE
Associated Press

Baseball's professional mourners, the managers, already are wailing over a dose of sickness, injuries and reversals. With the season but three days old, Joe Cronin, the high-priced playing manager of the Red Sox, has a broken thumb; Ben Chapman of the Yankees is suffering from muscular pains in his side which caused him to retire from yesterday's game with Washington and Dick Bartel of the Giants is in the sick bay suffering from grippe.

Causing further managerial headaches, many of the game's ace pitchers, including the irrespressible brothers Dean, are already smarting under defeats and a gust of typical Dodger dizziness has begun.

On the other side of the ledger, however, owner Tom Yawkey of the Red Sox saw Jimmy Foxx, who tied Hank Greenberg for home run honors with thirty-six each last year, start paying dividends in this respect yesterday with his first round trip sock of the year.

Cronin is expected to be out of action for two or three weeks with a double fracture of the thumb, received as the Red Sox drubbed the Athletics 10 to 4.

PAUL DEAN TAKES LICKING

Paul Dean who watched brother Jerome's dismal performance in the opening game, was the victim of a 5 to 3 defeat by the Cubs.

There were shades of the days when Babe Herman did acrobatics in the far pastures for the Dodgers as the Giants notched their third straight win over Brooklyn 7 to 6 The tying and winning runs crossed the pate in the ninth inning when Jordan and Lindstrom of the flat bushers collided while attempting to catch what appeared to be an easy fly.

The Yankees defeated the Washington Senators 6 to 5. Five pitchers three for the Senators and two for the Yanks, saw service in this game and they yielded a total of twenty-nine safeties. Ten of the Yank's fifteen hits were for extra bases George Selkirk getting a homer, a triple and a single.

REDS GAIN FIRST WIN

As the Senators were dropping their first game in three starts, the Pirates also were getting their first taste of defeat. The Cincinnati Reds hung up their first victory of the year as they downed the Bucs 7 to 4. Bud Hafey whaled out his second homer of the year in the first inning while Cuyler and Goodman of the Reds hit for round trips.

Only 500 fans turned out to see the Phillies down the Boston Bees 7 to 5. The Bees went into the eighth inning trailing 7 to 1, tallied three runs on a homer by Hal Lee and came back to get another in the ninth inning before their rally was checked.

The Tigers-Indians, Browns-White Sox games were postponed because of cold weather.

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, April 17. — Goals were dished up aplenty as Toronto Maple Leafs defeated Chicago Blackhawks 7 to 6 here yesterday evening in the first exhibition game the two National Hockey League teams played on their eastern tour.

The Hawks smacked in two goals to go into an early lead that did not survive the first period. Leafs turned the tables and led 3 to 2 when they hit for the dressing-room. They were ahead at the end of the second 6 to 4.

Burly Red Horner and Charlie Conacher led the Toronto marksmen with two goals each. "Pep" Kelly, Bob Davidson and Art Jackson scored the other Leaf goals with assists going to Art Jackson, Conacher, Horner, Kelly and Harvey Jackson.

Dominoes See Sugar Plant

Pay Visit to Raymond's Main Industrial Centre; Andrews and McKeachie Gopher Hunting Champions.

By PETE SALLAWAY
(By-Mail)

With the Dominoes at Raymond.—Members of the Victoria Dominoes marked time in this Alberta town following the first game here. Manager Dave Nicol ordered a day of rest, after the grueling opening affair, in which the Victoria boys sneaked through to a four-point victory. No workout was held, and the team members and officials put in the day sightseeing. Several went on a trip to Lethbridge, while others visited interesting places in the vicinity.

Most of the players were taken on an inspection tour of the massive beet sugar factory, located a mile and a half out of the community. Although the plant was not in operations the boys were quite interested in the intricate machinery, and had the process of sugarmaking explained to them by the superintendent. The most interesting part of the tour was the sacking department and the huge storage bins. In the latter was seen thousands of tons of the finished product. The Victoria lads got a big kick out of sticking their fingers into the sugar and tasting it. They said they could not tell the difference between it and the cane sugar they are used to.

In the warehouse was seen thousands on thousands of 100-pound sacks ready for shipment. This will all have to be unloaded before the factory goes into operation again in September. The farmers are now busily engaged in planting their beets, and there is a continual stream of cars and wagons to the plant for beet seed and fertilizer.

Victoria fans would have got a great laugh if they could have witnessed a scene on one of the large open spaces near town. Art and Chuck Chapman, Porky Andrews, Doug Peden, Frank Elliott, Alex. McKeachie and Jack Mottishaw decided they would attempt to catch a gopher. They finally got one well away from its hole, and then the fun started. The seven huskies chased the elusive little fellow for about five minutes, but he finally got back to his hole and disappeared like a shot. By that time the boys were laughing so much they could hardly stand on their feet. After returning to their home they left on another expedition, but at the time of writing I had heard no reports as to what success they had.

Andrews and McKeachie went out with two Raymond residents equipped with rifles, and out of twenty-five shots knocked over twenty gophers. The "gold dust" twins now claim the gopher hunting championship of the team.

Misfortune again struck the Dominoes in Raymond when Ollie Goldsmith, hero of the British Columbia final against the Vancouver Province was in bed with a bruised ankle. It was the same foot he hurt in Victoria about a month ago. In the game Monday evening he had it stepped on, and the next morning it was swollen twice its natural size. After medical attention it was feared Ollie would be out of action for a week at least.

Victoria propertyowners who think they pay high taxes on their homes should stay away from this town. The young chap who guided us through the sugar factory told us he had just finished building a five-room stucco bungalow, and although he is without sewerage connection and has no local improvements, his taxes a year are $95.

With the Victoria boys quartered at private homes, the home town fans will no doubt be interested in just what the meals were like. Speaking for myself it will not be the fault of our hostess if I dont't put on weight. Here is the bill of fare for one sitting at night: Small steaks, that are brought in on a huge platter; corn, that is home preserved; carrots, potatoes, gravy, homemade pickles, pie, jelly and cream, creamed tapioco, tea or coffee, and to top off, all the cream you can drink.

The Victorians are privileged people in that they are having tea and coffee served them. One of the teachings of the Mormon religion is that hot drinks are not good for a person, with the result they partake only of milk and cream with their meals.

CARPET FINALS ARE UNDER WAY

Close Matches in Mixed Doubles; Team Play on Tonight's Programme

Sheritt and L. W. Cockerill 18 to 16.

Few errors featured the play in the mexed doubles match, and the contest was keen throughout.

OUR MAIL BAG

FOOTBALL MEDALS

To the Editor:—I notice in your report yesterady that gold medals will be presented Saturday afternoon to Barnes and Stewart, being selected by the local football fraternity as the most useful players in the intercity games.

In the best interests of football I and many fans think it would be best left undone. We do not wish to take any credit from the two boys mentioned, but I think hundreds of fans will agree with me that Victoria's defence has played a big factor in their wins, namely De Costa, Gibbons and Esler, not to mention Bell and the others. I have been a playing customer to nearly all games for twenty-five years, and I think it an insult to all the other players to favor two out of a team that has brought the championship to our city two years in succession. If any medals are to be presented give all players that have taken any part in intercity games a medal each, and not cause any hard feeling among the players.

Every man on that team has given his best, and is entitled to as much as the other fellow. They get out in all weathers, some days to practise, them all alike, for the players get little enough for their services.

W. BRYAN,
2642 Scott Street.

To the Sports Editor:—We wish to express our appreciation to the basketball fans of Victoria for their splendid support in making it possible to put the Dominoes Raymond basketball series on the air.

If they enjoyed the broadcasts of the last game, and would like to hear the Domino-Toiler series on the air, it will be necessary to raise the required funds by public subscription, as so far no satisfactory reply has been received from the Canadian Radio Commission, and no commercial sponsor has been secured to date.

Donations can be left at Hocking & Forbes Sporting Goods Store, 1006 Douglas Street. The names of all donors will be taken so that in the event of not raising enough money, donations will be returned.

JACK TAYLOR,
President Victoria District Basketball Association.

New York, April 17 (Associated Press).—Minimum fines of $25 each were assessed yesterday by the National League against shortstop Dick Bartell of the New York Giants and pitcher Van Mungo of the Brooklyn Dodgers as a result of their first fight at the Polo Grounds Wednesday. The amount of the fines was the smallest assessed in many years for fisticuffs between players on the field.

Beaten Hawaiian Matmen Courteous

Drape Leis Around Necks of Conquerors in U.S. Olympic Tryouts

By BOB CABAGNARD
Associated Press

Bethlehem, Pa., April 17.—Although they've been among the more consistent losers in the current United States Olympic final wrestling tryouts, the four grapplers from Hawaii are definitely courteous losers.

No matter how groggy his conqueror might leave him on the canvas, the Hawaiian gets up, rushes to a corner of the gymnasium, reaches into a large box and pulls out a green and white lei.

Then he runs back to the middle of the canvas where the victor is enjoying the plaudits of the gallery and drapes the lei over the winner's shoulders. An embrace follows.

HAWAIIAN CUSTOM

"It's an old Hawaiian custom," nineteen-year-old Richard Noda, manager and captain of the foursome from the Pacific Island, said today. "Even when we win we do the same thing."

Noda, a 134-pound competitor, and Katsutoshi Nishuira and Eiji Matsumra, contestants in the 123-pound division, were eliminated yesterday after two rounds.

"It probably sounds funny, but we really came 5,000 miles to learn," smiled Noda, who like his compatriots is born of Japanese parents and are naturalized United States citizens. "Wrestling took hold in Hawaii only about five years ago and it hasn't developed as rapidly as boxing."

Rangers Favored For Scottish Cup

Meet Third Lanark Tomorrow For Premier Soccer Laurel; Relegation Fights Furnish Main English League Interest

Glasgow, April 17.—Brimful of confidence, two famous Glasgow clubs put the finishing touches to their training yesterday for Scotland's premier soccer event—the cup final—to be played tomorrow at Hampden Park.

The home of that great amateur club, Queen's Park, is expected to accommodate nearly 100,000 persons when Rangers and Third Lanark field their strongest teams. It will be an old story for Rangers, seeking their tenth trophy and their third in successive years. On the other hand, Third Lanark has won on only two occasions, and the Cathkin Park men have not appeared in the final since 1906, when they were defeated by Heart of Midlothian.

Rangers go into the battle strong favorites, but their opponents, not forgetting they defeated the classy Ibrox Park squad in the 1905 final, hope to repeat. The teams staged a rehearsal of tomorrow's encounter in a league game at Cathkin last Monday, when Rangers won 3 to 1. However, critics concede that that result can have little bearing on the cup final.

LEAGUE PLAY

In league play, Celtic is likely to retain leadership of the first division at the expense of Ayr United, although the latter is likely to put up a big fight, as it is in danger of demotion to the second division. The last-place Airdrieonians, beaten 4 to 1, Monday by St. Johnstone, are at home to Partick Thistle, and may force a victory. The Airdrie team has twenty-four points, one behind Ayr. Hibernians, Albion Rovers and Clyde are tied with twenty-six points

ENGLISH RELEGATION FIGHT

London, April 17.—Promotion and relegation problems again dominate the English Football League programme for tomorrow.

Sunderland is undisputed champion of the premier league, but at the other end of the table, nine clubs are separated by only two points, all in danger of accompanying Blackburn Rovers into the second division. The Rovers occupy the cellar position with twenty-nine points, five less than West Bromwich Albion in twenty-first place.

The long Easter programme left the battle at the top of the second division more involved than before. Manchester United, West Ham United and Charlton Athletic are bracketed, with fifty points, but the United has the advantage with a game in hand and the best goal average. Hull City is doomed to relegation. Barnsley and Nottingham Forest are fighting to avoid a similar fate.

NECK-AND-NECK RACE

Coventry City and Luton Town are engaged in a neck-and-neck race in the southern section of the third division, but Chesterfield has five points on Tranmere Rovers at the top of the northern section.

Aston Villa is making a gallant effort to avoid dismissal from the major league, but can scarcely hope to avoid defeat against Arsenal at Highbury.

West Bromwich Albion play at Brentford, now in fifth place in the table.

West Ham United and Charlton Athletic will attract a huge crowd on the former's ground, and while these second division giants are striving for points Manchester United may pull into the lead against the low-placed Notts Forest outfit.

Victories are likely for the leading third division teams.

WALTER ADAMS ARCHERY HEAD

Walter Adams, well known in local archery circles, was yesterday evening elected president of the Victoria Archers' Society by acclamation at the annual general meeting held in The Times building.

Frank L. Thompson was elected to the office of vice-president and Kenneth Reid will take over the duties of secretary. Sidney S. Girling was chosen as treasurer and Miss Nancy Hepburn will undertake the job of lady patroness. The executive includes Thomas Wherry, W. W. Martin, Charlie Clarke, H. E. Pratt, Herb P. Shade and all the incoming officers.

Herb Shade, retiring president, thanked the executive and officers for the fine co-operation he had received from them during last year and wished the incoming 1936 officers every success.

CLUB PROGRESSES

In presenting the annual report, the past president pointed out that two ranges had been erected during the last year, an outdoor range at the Reynolds Road recreation grounds and an indoor rance in the basement of the Strathcona Hotel. Three outdoor tournaments were held and a great improvement in form was noticed, he said. He thanked the management of the Strathcona Hotel for its support in letting the club use the basement for the indoor range

It was decided to hold an archery display in a window of one of the local stores in the near future. The equipment used for this sport will be displayed.

Plans are now being made for the opening of the outdoor range, and the summer season is expected to be ushered in on or about May 1. The indoor range has been officially closed until next winter.

A letter was read from Vancouver, requesting intercity matches be arranged this year between lady and gentlemen archers of the two cities. The suggestion met the approval of the local society.

Persons who are interested in archery and want information are asked to get in touch with either Kenneth Reid, secretary, or Walter Adams, president.

DEAF-BLIND MAN "HEARS" TRIAL

Major Ian St. Clair, deaf and unable to see, sat in Judge Lampman's court today and knew all that was going on.

He was able to know all because at his side sat Elizabeth Florence O'Brien, expert on the touch system of talking. As the judge and lawyers talked and questioned witnesses, Miss O'Brien, her fingers moving like lightning over the palm of Major St. Clair's hand, translated it all to him.

Major St. Clair, who is a retired officer of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and for years physical and cadet instructor in the Victoria public schools, was being sued by Charles John White, greenhouse operator, of Lake Hill. Mr. White, with Don. Campbell as his counsel, claimed for putting up a building on the St. Clair place, also at Lake Hill, for which he said he had not been paid.

Major St. Clair, with R. A. Wootton as his counsel, disputed the claim and launched a counter-claim for advances to Mr. White.

After the plaintiff's case had been presented, the judge ordered the claim dismissed without calling upon the defence. Mr. Wootton then announced the withdrawal of the counter-claim.

Admits Having Spurious Coins

Louis Geroux Committed For Trial; Says He Bought Money

Louis Geroux, formerly of Vancouver and Montreal, who was arrested yesterday afternoon by Saanich police as he was preparing to travel up-island on the Mill Bay ferry, admitted in Saanich police court this morning that he had distributed spurious coins around small stores in Saanich.

Geroux wanted to plead guilty to the charge and not "prolong the agony." He said the coins had been given him by a Vancouver acquaintance named "Blackie" he had met in Victoria and purchased $15 worth of bogus coins from him for $5.

The offence, however, was not triable in police court and Geroux was committed for trial in the higher court.

When he was arrested yesterday by Chief Rankin and Constable J. Bull seven U.S. half dollar pieces and twenty-nine U.S. quarters were found in his possession. They were all bogus coins and he admitted passing others at different stores on his way to Brentwood.

RIDING MOTORCYCLE

His mode of travel was a motorcycle, which he is reported to have purchased in Vancouver.

When asked by Magistrate Jay if he wished to secure counsel, Geroux said: "Since I am ready to plead guilty to the charge it would not be necessary for me to have counsel. I can see no use in prolonging the agony and am prepared to go on this morning."

He said he had come to Vancouver late last year from Montreal and one of his first acquaintances was "Blackie," who at that time was engaged in making wicker baskets. The accused asked for a job selling these baskets and after working at it for a few months he came to Victoria.

MET "BLACKIE" HERE

He was here for a few days and then returned to the mainland. He came back to Victoria last Wednesday and happened to meet "Blackie" on the street. "Blackie" had asked him what he was doing and his reply had been he was going up-island to see if he could earn a living at his trade of a barber.

"Blackie" had asked if he wanted to make some "easy money" and when the accused agreed "Blackie" sold him the bogus money at 40 per cent discount.

Chief Rankin testified when he arrested the accused he had admitted his guilt and said "I guess I've been a sap."

Saanich police trailed the accused yesterday as he left a trail of spurious coins at different stores on his way to Brentwood. City detectives responded to one call where a storekeeper reported he had a bogus 50-cent piece passed on him. The store was in Saanich and the case was handed over to the municipal police.

Chief Rankin warned one storekeeper further out on the highway to be on the lookout for the coins and half an hour after he left the store he received word the accused had been there.

Pay Increases Are Confirmed

Few Changes in Provincial Police; Promotions at Headquarters

Abolition of all acting posts in the provincial police and confirmation of acting officers in their respective positions, with a few promotions, were announced this morning at headquarters here.

As a result of the action men who for the last few years have held positions as acting first, second and third class constables, will have their posts confirmed and received pay increases in accord with their ranks.

This year's list contains few promotions, these being confined largely to the headquarters offices here. There were no transfers.

Sergt. Roger Peachey of the criminal investigation bureau has been promoted to sub-inspector in the same department, while Sergt. Cecil "Nobby" Clark has been made staff sergeant in the commissioner's office.

Acting staff sergeant J. P. M. Hannah, formerly of Vancouver, who was recently transferred to Victoria, has been made staff sergeant in the motor record office.

In divisional headquarters there has been only one change, Corporal Tom Kennelly having been promoted to sergeant.

INDIAN TRIAL IS TRAVERSED

Vancouver, April 17. — A charge against the four Indian brothers for the murder of Provincial Constable Percy Carr on May 23, 1934, at the Canford Indian Reserve, today was traversed to the fall sitting by Chief Justi Aulay Morrison in assize court on application of crown counsel.

An appeal of Eneas, Richardson and Alex. George from a conviction in the assize court here last October for the murder at the same time and place of Dominion Constable F. H. Gisbourne, will open Monday before the court of appeal.

DUE TO FINISH PICTURE TODAY

After Six Days of Perfect Light Conditions, "Gunsmoke" Completed

Production of "Gunsmoke," western picture made here by Central Films Limited for Columbia Pictures Incorporated, was scheduled to be completed today. The picture was begun in the first week of February, and shelved because of weather conditions.

For the last six days the company have been making the most of the final arrival of real spring weather.

Early this morning the whole party and its equipment, loaded in a variety of cars and trucks, has made its way out to the Lock farm at Royal Oak, where ideal scenery for the outdoor scenes has been found.

Sometime this afternoon the group was expected to return to town for the last time, with the last cans of exposed film ready for shipment to Hollywood for processing.

It is probable that the company will wait here for two or three days in case of orders from Hollywood for possible retakes.

Plans for future work have not yet been announced.

NEEDS BETTER RADIO SERVICE

Martin Kiebert, Seattle Radio Expert, Making Intensity Tests Here

"I think the station in Vancouver should be granted far more power. In proportion to population it is nowhere near powerful enough, said Martin Kiebert, radio expert who is making field intensity tests for the Columbia Broadcasting System and the U.S. Federal Communications Commission, this morning.

Mr. Kiebert found United States stations were received in British Columbia with a strength out of all proportion to the Canadian Radio Commission's programmes.

Mr. Kiebert is chief engineer of station KIRO, Seattle, and is the only radio expert authorized to give technical evidence at federal hearings in connection with the plans of radio stations in that city.

In a car equipped with the latest type of RCA intensity meter, of which only some thirty-five have been made, he is touring the northwest making delicate tests to determine the signal strength of stations at various points throughout Washington and British Columbia.

He came over to Nanaimo from Vancouver last night, and left the up-island city at 4 o'clock this morning, stopping off at points on the Island Highway to conduct tests

EFFECT OF SOIL

The effect of soil conditions on the strength of the reception of radio signals in various places is considerable, Mr. Kiebert explained this morning. These conditions have been accurately plotted east of the Mississippi, but never in the west. It is on this work that he is engaged.

It will take him another year to correlate all the information he has gathered. He will submit his findings to Stanford University, and possibly also to the Canadian Radio Commission, as well as to CBS and the FCC.

FREAKISH RESULTS

This is his first visit to Vancouver Island, and he has found that the glacial rock formation of the country gives very freakish results, with dead spots at several places on the Island Highway.

Mr. Kiebert hopes to return here several more times to continue his tests, at intervals of three or four months.

He will leave for Seattle this evening.

A relief loan of $2,690.19 to the township of Langley was authorized by the provincial government today.

PAY TRIBUTE TO TRUANT OFFICER

Tribute to the work of the late William John Edwards, truant officer and storekeeper, who passed away recently, was paid by members of the City School Board in a resolution endorsed yesterday evening.

The trustees also forwarded a message of condolence to the family.

In considering the appointment of a successor to Mr. Edwards, the board was advised to make a temporary appointment for the remaining two months of the school year from the present staff. Answer to Previous Puzzle

WESTS WILL MEET CITY

Will Battle at Athletic Park Tomorrow in Jackson Cup Semi-final

Victoria City first division eleven will oppose the Victoria West tomorrow in a semi-final fixture of the Jackson Cup series, at the Athletic Park, in the feature tussle on the Saturday afternoon soccer card.

Another important fixture of the day will bring together Esquimalt and Victoria West second division soccer squads at Bullen Park, in the final for the league championship. Saanich Thistles and Victoria City will meet in a second division league match at Heywood Avenue.

All fixtures are billed to start at 2.30 o'clock. Dave Swan will referee the first division match at the Athletic Park. Al McKinnon will officiate at Bullen Park. T. M. Robb will referee the Heywood Avenue tilt.

TO RECEIVE MEDALS

Prior to the commencement of the game at the enclosure, Mayor David Leeming will make the presentation to "Scotty" Stewart of the most valuable player gold medal. Roy Barnes, who was named second most valuable local player, will also receive a gold medal.

Esquimalt and Saanich Thistles, first division squads, will meet on April 25 at the Athletic Park, also in a Jackson Cup semi-final.

The winner of tomorrow's game and the victor of the following week's tussle, are scheduled to meet May 2 for possession of the coveted trophy. The above schedule was given today by J. R. Jones, secretary of the Victoria committee of the British Columbia Football Commission. The team that captures the cup wins the lower island championship.

THISTLES FORMER HOLDERS

The Saanich Thistles are present holders of the trophy, but the loss of many last year's players have left them considerably weakened, and it is predicted they will not be able to hold their own with the other clubs.

Esquimalt, league leaders, are favored to annex the Jackson Cup.

TEAMS

The line-ups for tomorrow follows:

Esquimalt (Second Division)—Harvinson, Hay, Fraser, Jacklin, Evans, E. DeCosta, L. Hicks, McFarlane, Walted Stewart and A. Stewart. Subs—S. Hicks, D. Ecknold, Wickens, Barnswell.

LAUREL, HARDY AT DOMINION

Play Leading Roles in Comedy Version of "The Bohemian Girl"

When Michael William Balfe, poetic Irishman, wrote the popular opera, "The Bohemian Girl," nearly a century ago, little did he dream that it would one day be the basis of a comedy motion picture. The opus, as he conceived it, was a dramatic and sometimes morbid story concerning the adventures of a gypsy band, interspersed with ballads noted for their pathetic sentiment.

Now come Laurel and Hardy, plenipotentiaries of fun, as stars of a new and hilarious version of the noted epic, a version dedicated to joy and laughter, but nevertheless "The Bohemian Girl." Their full-length motion picture suggested by the Balfe opera begins a three-day engagement at the Dominion Theatre today.

Produced by Hal Roach-M-G-M, the feature picture has lost nothing of the spirit of the original manuscript. Practically all of the never-to-be-forgotten music, both instrumental and vocal, has been retained in the film. Such familiar ballads as "I Dreamt I Dwelt in Marble Halls," "Then You'll Remember Me," "In the Gypsy's Life You Read" and "The Heart Bow'd Down" are a few of the old-time numbers rendered.

The story differs considerably, however, to permit Laurel and Hardy to caper as is their wont, and to the great advantage of the play from an entertainment viewpoint.

"ROSE MARIE" AT CAPITOL

Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy Star in Famous Light Opera

In a production sweeping with song and scented with romance, Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy, those celebrated co-stars of "Naughty Marietta," come to the screen of the Capitol Theatre in the well-known characters of the light opera, "Rose Marie."

Under their magic spell the full beauty of "The Indian Love Call," "Rose Marie, I Love You," "Song of the Mounties," and other classics from the Herbert Stothart-Rudolf Firml score, live again.

More charming even than they were in the record-breaking "Naughty Marietta," "Rose Marie" is a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer triumph.

Filmed almost entirely out-of-doors, in the mountain-lake country of the Sierra Nevadas, the production is a pictorial sensation. Glimmering lakes, towering peaks, dangerous passes, all the beauty of nature, serves as background for the romantic saga of the Great Northwest.

It was given full benefit of Director W. S. Van Dyke's proven talents, and magnificently mounted by Producer Hunt Stromberg, the successful collaborators of "Naughty Marietta."

"Rose Marie" is the story of a Canadian grand opera singer who travels incognito into the backwoods regions in search of her brother, a criminal from justice.

Also searching for the brother is Sergeant Bruce, of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. They meet and fall in love, until she realizes the mission of the other.

The crashing climax and poignant ending of the story will be remembered long after most pictures are forgotten.

COLUMBIA THEATRE

"Men of the Hour," the exciting Columbia drama now showing at the Columbia Theatre, is somewhat of a family affair. Hudson Radabaugh, brother of Richard Cromwell, appears in the picture with him. Cromwell's name was Radabaugh before he made his film debut in "Tol'able David" five years ago. Billie Seward and Wallace Ford are also featured in "Men of the Hour."

French Picture Here Tomorrow

"La Dame Aux Camelias" and "A Dog of Flanders" at Empire Theatre

"La Dame Aux Camelias," the greatly praised French picture, will be shown tomorrow at the Empire Theatre.

The cinema critic of the Paris newspaper, Le Temps, says "Carefully made. Cleverly staged; full of delightful scenes."

"A Dog of Flanders" is the second feature, starring Frankie Thomas. Faithful in locale, costumes, customs, music, dances and the life of the colorful Flemish country, Louisa se la Ramee's story moves the emotions chiefly through the efforts of its little hero.

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE

William A. Seiter, director of Columbia's new romantic comedy, "If You Could Only Cook," showing today at the Playhouse Theatre, thinks directing pictures is lots of fun. Bill looks to be the sort of man who would think anything was fun.

He stands six feet, one inch tall, has black hair and hazel eyes, and weighs 185 pounds. It is his laugh that really gives him away. Bill laughs heartily, sincerely and infectiously, and he laughs often. It seems to get his cast, too, for they are a happy lot.

Oils, Specialties Best of Irregular Wall Street List

Associated Press

New York, April 17.—Stocks of the oil companies were favored in today's market, as were scattered specialties, but the buying incentive was lacking in other groups.

Heaviness of the rails and steels was a retarding factor, although selling pressure, generally, was not pronounced.

The close was irregular. Transfers were around 1,350,000 shares.

While the foreign picture appeared to be cloudier than ever, domestic industrial news attracted attention to individual equities. At the same time brokerage quarters stated many of their customers were still on the sidelines waiting for a break in the trend stalemate.

Indian Refining stock was a spectacular feature in the stock division. It got up five points on top of a three-point jump yesterday, although it subsequently gave up some of this under profit realizing.

Others that were given support included Seaboard Oil, Standard Oils of New Jersey and Indian, Houston Oil, Atlantic Refining, U.S. Industrial Alcohol, Corn Products, American Rolling Mills, Sears Roebuck and Montgomery Ward.

Case, Crown Cork and Auburn fell back a point or so, along with American Telephone and Santa Fe. In the lower brackets also were U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, N.Y. Central, Northern Pacific, Southern Pacific and Du Pont.

Bullish Market Factors Induce Upturn In Wheat

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, April 17.—Wheat prices advanced on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today amid a welter of bullish market developments. Values closed 1¼ to 1⅝ cents higher, May at 82¾, July 83¾ and October 84¾ cents.

Alarming crop reports from the United States southwest, brisk foreign buying of Canadian wheat and the tense political situation in Europe brought traders into the market to buy futures. Prices mounted easily.

Liberal selling, part of which was attributed to the Canadian wheat board, was assimilated without difficulty by the good export sales, estimated to total more than 1,000,000 bushels.

Liverpool at the close was ⅞ to 1d higher, due to improved demand in the United Kingdom for wheat Buenos Aires and Minneapolis also were on the upside in response to the bullish crop situation.

Futures were traded in heavy volume here, with operations active throughout the session. Feature of the day was buying of Winnipeg options against sales of corresponding deliveries at Chicago.

Spreads improved fractionally in quiet cash-grains trading. Coarse grain prices advanced briskly with wheat, flax in the lead with a gain of more than two cents a bushel at one time.

Chicago, April 17.—Topmost prices for wheat since last February resulted today from broad speculative demand based on drought in this country and on increased warlike suggestions abroad.

Toward the end of the day, however, buying ardor was tempered a little because of reports of some rains in western Oklahoma. Export purchases of Canadian wheat today were estimated at 1,250,000 bushels.

Wheat closed firm, 1⅝ to 2⅝ cents above yesterday's finish, May 99⅞ to 1.00, July 91¾ to 91⅞, corn ⅜ to 1⅛ up, May 62 to 62⅛, oats ½ to ⅝ advanced, and provision 2 cents to 15 cents down.

Tarzan And the Fire Gods

Tommy whipped the machine gun to his shoulder. "Drop your guns!" he cried. "I'll shoot the first man that tries to desert!" But he was unaware of the three lithe Arabs who slipped up from behind him. Suddenly they pounced viciously upon Tommy and disarmed him!

The whole hand fled, with Tommy in swift pursuit of the assailant who had seized the machine gun. The Arab turned and pointed the muzzle at the American's head. Then Tommy dived at him in a football tackle that had won him boyhood fame on New York playgrounds.

As he fell, the Arab dropped the weapon and Tommy pounced upon it. But already his foe had leaped to his feet and disappeared into the jungle to join his companions. Thus Tommy Welsh was left deserted, surrounded by the known and unknown menaces of Africa.

Undaunted, he resumed his search for Jerry Jones. After a while he rested on a mountainside. Suddenly, far below him, he caught sight of a bronzed figured seated on a rock. Tommy did not recognize the figure of Tarzan, nor could he see the object of Tarzan's keen gaze.

Declares Youth Needs New Ideas

THE WORST CRIME that the older generation has committed against the younger generation is to teach it to believe in the myth of the "good old times" when the sun always shone, and the weather was always fine, and money grew on trees, and everybody was kind and true, and all the good things in life were handed one on a silver salver.

It is one of the consolations of age that we look back upon the past through the rosy mists of memory that obscures all that was ugly in it and that lets us see again only the beautiful, that turns the humble cottage we lived in into a palace, the plain food we ate into nectar and ambrosia, and that makes all the hardships we endured nothing but a gay adventure.

Such being the case, it is natural that during these bleak years of depression we have dwelt with peculiar fervor upon the glory of a vanished day, and as we gathered our children around our knees we have enlarged upon its delights and compared it invidiously with the hard present until it has become the theme song to which the youngsters have been reared.

In reality, even those of us who discoursed most eloquently upon the "good old times" knew that we were telling a fairy tale, but the trouble is that the youngsters believed us. They have taken all that we have said about the past for gospel truth. They actually think there was a golden era in which the world and all the conditions of life were different; when people did not have to work and worry and struggle and economize just to make a living; when gilt-edged jobs were handed to every boy with his college diploma; when you reached the top of the ladder at a single bound instead of having to crawl up it on your knees, round by round, as you do now.

It is this belief in these "good old times" that they missed that has done more than anything else to break down the morale of the present generation, and make it bitter and disgruntled and cowardly and to feel that there is no use in putting up a fight in a world where somebody else got all the prizes before they were born.

What the youth of today needs more than anything else is to have this superstition about the "good old times" exploded. To be convinced that there never were any "good old times"; that the road to success has always been hard sledding, and that the men who have made the grade have marked it with their sweat and blood. And, most of all, they need to be made to realize that men have always had to work and struggle for what they got. The plums have always been gathered by those who had the grit to climb for them. They have never dropped into the hands of the lazy and shiftless and those who were too weak to grab for them when they fell in their reach.

I hear so much about the "good old times" from young people who are victims of this fable that I am sick and tired of it. Boys and girls write me that they are desperately in love, but that you can't marry on a shoestring now as you could in the past. Of course, they can't, because now they have to have a splurge wedding and a nice apartment and good furniture and a car and a radio and fine clothes and be able to go to the movies and places to dance two or three times a week. But in the "good old days" young people could get married because they were satisfied with a couple of rooms and a few sticks of furniture, and they never even dreamed of such luxuries as gas ranges and electric lights and bathrooms.

Discouraged boys tell me that there are no opportunities for young men now as there were in the "good old days." No? When a thousand new inventions open a thousand new doors for the lads who are willing to crash them. But they won't open of themselves. You've got to break your way in. That is what the men of the past did when you think things were so easy for them. No good fairy was wandering around waving a wand at a lad trudging the tow path of a canal that turned him into a President, or that changed a boy on a slag pile into the head of a great steel industry, or that lifted a youth out of the furrows of a corn field into a bank president's chair. In the good old times they had to make their own opportunities just as they have to do today.

"It used to be easy to make a fortune in the 'good old times'," cry the youths who sit on the do-nothing stool. Was it? Ask Mr. Rockefeller. Read the biographies of any of the men who have gone up from poverty to riches. You'll see that every one of them started to work at a pittance; that they labored uncounted hours; that many of them slept under the counter in stores; that they denied themselves every pleasure and luxury. That's the recipe for making a fortune. And it turns out th same kind of cake now as it did in the past.

There never were any "good old times," boys and girls. It is the same old world it has always been, and it is up to you what you get out of it.

Uncle Wiggily's Washtub Boat

By HOWARD R. GARIS

Once upon a time Jackie and Peetie Bow Wow, with Jimmie Wibble-wobble, the duck, and Billie Wagtail, the goat, went on a picnic. The picnic was on a little island in the middle of the duck pond where often Jimmie, the duck, went swimming.

Jimmie was a good swimmer and so were Jackie and Peetie, the puppy dogs. But Billie the goat couldn't swim well at all. He said it was on account of his horns on his head, but goats are never very good swimmers—nothing like ducks or fishes, anyhow.

So because Billie Wagtail couldn't swim they all went over to the picnic island in a boat. It was just an old boat the animal boys themselves had made out of some boards, but it floated along very well.

"Are we all ready now?" quacked Jimmie as they stood on the shore of the duck pond.

"All ready," answered Jackie.

"And have we got all we want to eat?" asked Peetie.

"Well, maybe not all we want, but it's all we can get," bleated Billie the goat. "Come on, let's start the picnic."

"ALL ABOARD!"

"All aboard!" quacked Jimmie the duck, who was captain of the boat.

Away they went over the blue sparkling waters of the duck pond, and soon they were near the island in the middle where they were to have the picnic. The animal children often went there to have fun.

It didn't take long to row over to the island, and once there the animal boys jumped out of their boat. They ran around on the island, played games and then it was time to eat.

They had brought picnic lunches with them and soon they were sitting in the shade eating the sandwiches and cookies their mothers had given them.

After eating they rested and then they played some more and then it was time to think of going back to shore.

"But where's the boat?" asked Billie the goat, as he ran down to the place where it had been left.

"Isn't the boat there?" barked Jackie.

"No, it's gone," said Billie.

"I guess we forgot to tie it fast to a tree when we got out," said Peetie, "and the wind blew it away."

DRIFTS AWAY

"Look! There it is!" quacked Jimmie. "It's drifting down toward the waterfall. There it goes over! Now our boat is all smashed to pieces! Oh, dear!"

It was true. The boat had drifted away, had tumbled over the falls and was dashed to pieces on the rocks.

"What's to be done?" asked Jackie. "Peetie and I can swim back to shore and so can you, Jimmie. But Billie can't."

"Oh, please don't swim away and leave me!" begged the goat.

"We won't," promised Jimmie. "I'll swim to shore and tell Uncle Wiggily what has happened. He'll know what to do."

When the duck boy told the rabbit gentleman about the smashed boat, Uncle Wiggily said:

"I'll go over to the island in a washtub boat and bring Billie, Jackie and Peetie safe here to shore." Taking one of Nurse Jane's wooden washtubs, Uncle Wiggily, with a clothes pole for an oar, paddled to the island. There Jackie, Peetie and Billie got in the tub and soon they were safe on the main shore and very thankful they were to Mr. Longears.

And if the baseball doesn't tie the clothes line in hard knots so it can't make a swing for the cake of soap, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's toothache plant.

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline but do not compel"

SATURDAY, APRIL 18, 1936

Conflicting planetary aspects are discerned in the horoscope for today, according to astrology. Afternoon recreation and week-end trips will be more profitable than any sort of work.

In the morning women may be mildly interested in shopping for attire. The stars smile on modistes and milliners, who are again to be sought, as standardized clothing is avoided by modish persons.

This should be a lucky day for starting on long railway journeys. Travel by every popular means of conveyance is to be extraordinarily heavy in the summer.

Whatever depends upon the favor of the rich or powerful should not be presented under this rule of the stars, which is believed to encourage arrogance and lack of interest among those who control appointments or positions.

There is a promising sign for weddings today. Happiness is foretold for those who hold love above riches.

Cultivation of beauty is subject to the best results under this configuration, which guides those girls who utilize natural aids in making the best of their looks. Warning is given, however, that too much tan may be regretted in the future.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of work and friendship into which there may come disappointment. Visits to odd places is indicated for many.

Children born on this day probably will be serious in their natures and able to accumulate knowledge easily. Subjects of this sign may turn to teaching or lawmaking.

Richard Harding Davis, writer, was born on this day, 1864. Others who have celebrated as a birthday include John Young Mason, statesman, 1799, and Sterling Price Shaw, clergymen, 1872.

Search For Hindu Worker in Mill

Canadian Press

New Westminster, April 17.—Police searched through sawmills in the Fraser Valley yesterday and to-day for a Hindu named Sundar, who disappeared about a year ago, and whose relatives fear may have met with foul play.

Sundar arrived here from India about 1908. He is said to have worked in sawmills here and communicated with relatives in India until April of last year.

NO MORE SICK HEADACHES

Keep Your Stomach Clean

If you are a sufferer so much headache, biliousness, liver upsets and similar disorders, here is news that will cheer you. In the majority of cases the source of the trouble is the stomach, where nauseous gases accumulate and interfere with your digestion, poisoning the whole system and making you feel no good for anything.

Thousands of sufferers have put an end to all that misery by taking Maclean Brand Stomach Powder, the one with the signature "ALEX C. MACLEAN" on the bottle. This proved remedy is gently laxative and helps to expel poisonous, clogging waste matter. Two or three doses are usually sufficient to put your stomach in a clean, healthy condition.

At the first sign of discomfort seek refuge in Maclean Brand Stomach Powder. You can always rely on speedy relief. Do not experiment with cheap substitutes. You can safely put your faith in the "signature" brand—powder or tablets—75c, in bottles in cartons. Never sold loose. 62

Great Lakes Expect Busy Days This Year

More Men to Be Given Work; Fewer Boats to Be Idle and Passenger Trade Expected to Increase

Black smoke soon will trail across the waters of the inland seaway from Fort William to Montreal as freshly-painted freighters and trim passenger vessels open the Great Lakes shipping trade for another year. Activity on the lower lakes has already started.

Quiet optimism pervades shipping circles where a better season than last is expected. The feeling has spread all along the 1,000-mile waterway. Business is going to be better, fewer boats will be laid up, more men will be given work, passenger trade will reach a new post-depression high point.

While navigation has already opened in Toronto and Hamilton, lake traffic will not become general until next week or May 1. Short runs on Lake Ontario have been made during the last two days. The first vessel of 1936 is expected to put into Kingston harbor today.

C. W. West, engineer in charge of the Welland Ship Canal, expects to open the locks April 20, later than last year. The delay is due to large fields of ice in the upper part of Lake Erie, stretching from Dunkirk, N.Y., to Port Maitland, Ont.

It will be May 1 before the Sault Ste. Marie locks are opened, according to latest estimates. Prevailing cold weather has deferred the break-up of ice in the St. Mary's River. But when the season opens, Soo marine men expect it to be a busy one.

The late start will probably stimulate shipping, according to leaders in the business. Freight tonnage passing through Sault Ste. Marie may reach 50,000,000 for the first time in several years. An exceptionally heavy iron ore movement is anticipated.

At Port Arthur and Port William, outlook for freight business is considered particularly bright. Although lakehead freight sheds stored about 25 per cent more goods than in the winer of 1934-35, the supply has dwindled, and if opening of navigation is delayed there will be an increase in freight handling from the east by water.

Two weeks later than last year, shipping will probably start from the head of the lakes about May 1. While ice in Thunder Bay was not thicker than in former years, the field extended farther into the lake, stretching past Isle Royale, forty-five miles from Port Arthur.

Marine men at Sarnia expect an increased movement of freight, necessitating more vessels and employment of more men. Thirteen boats will be ready to set out from Sarnia when fitting out is completed. Toronto harbor has thirty-five vessels, slightly less than a year ago.

Special Rates Over E. and N.

The first excursion rates of the season to points on Vancouver Island, over the lines of the Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway will be in effect next week-end, James Macfarlane, general agent, said this morning.

The going dates will be Friday and Saturday, April 24 and 25, with return limit good to leave destination not later than Tuesday, April 28.

Mr. Macfarlane returned to Victoria Wednesday after spending the last three weeks in California. He visited San Francisco, Los Angeles and San Diego.

LONG SEA CAREER

London, April 17. — Capt. Henry Quime, commodore of the fleet of the Isle of Man Steam Packet Company since 1932, has resigned for health reasons after fifty years' service with the company.

During the war he was one of the men who maintained an unbroken service between the island and Liverpool. A large prison camp for Germans was maintained during the war at Knockaloe in the island.

PRIZE LEAVES TO BE SHOWN

Maple Leaves Which Took Awards Across Canada to Be Displayed Here

Thousands of maple leaves, the finest obtainable throughout the whole Dominion, either for size, beauty or coloring, will reach Victoria on the morning boat of April 18 from Vancouver, for display commencing that morning at the B.C. Coast Steamship ticket office and waiting room. The exhibit will be held until the evening of April 21.

These maple leaves are part of the entries submitted last fall to the country-wide competition conducted by the Canadian Government through its Ottawa Travel Bureau, and with the co-operation of the Canadian Pacific Railway and the Canadian National Railways.

Beautifully mounted in frames, and fastened to display racks, this exhibit is perhaps the most colorful ever to come to the west, bringing more forcefully to the mind the incomparable beauty of Canada's maples.

Including in this display will be that submitted to the celebrated judges by Richard Chambers of Vancouver, who won for the second successive year the competition for the largest maple leaf, with an entry of 21½ by 19½ inches, or 235½ inches square. This is the largest leaf ever submitted, and brought Mr. Chambers an award of $30.

The Dominion's most perfectly formed leaf, vivid with the glories of a Canadian autumn, and which carried a first prize of $100 for fourteen-year-old Gloria Robertson of Upper Dover, Westmoreland County, N.B., will be the centre of the attraction, closely followed by two other entries in this class, submitted respectively by Mrs. J. A. D'Amours of Matapedia, Quebec, and Miss Ruth McKay, Milford Station, Nova Scotia, who received the awards of $40 and $20 each.

ARRIVE ON WORLD TOUR

Conducted Group From London Aboard Ss. Niagara En Route Across Canada

On their way around the world, forty-four members of the British National Union party, headed by Major-General F. J. Duncan, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O., are in Victoria this afternoon aboard the liner Niagara, on which they made the long voyage from Auckland, via Suva and Honolulu.

Since January 10, when they sailed from Southampton on the Ss. Mooltan, the members of the party have been traveling. They have visited Gibraltar, Port Said, Aden, Bombay, Colombo, Freemantle, Adelaide, Melbourne and Sydney. They spent a month in New Zealand before taking the Niagara.

Each year the British National Union, in an effort to acquaint its members intimately with various parts of the British Commonwealth, arranges tours of the Dominions and in this way successively visits South Africa, Canada, India and now Australia and New Zealand.

En route across Canada the visitors will stop over at Banff to see something of the Canadian Rockies. They will travel east in special cars and take the Ss. Duchess of Bedford from Montreal for England.

Major-General Duncan is one of England's most distinguished soldiers. Now in his sixty-sixth year, he can look back on a long and useful military career which started in 1889 when he joined the Royal Scots. He served with distinction in the South African war, commanding a mounted infantry unit, and was decorated with the D.S.O. Early in the Great War he was in command of his own regiment, the Royal Scots, later the 165th and 66th infantry brigades. He was mentioned in dispatches eight times and won the C.B. and C.M.G. in addition to the Croix de Guerre, with palm and several foreign decorations. He was military attache at the British Legation in Bucharest from 1919 to 1924.

Plans Tour Of Orient Cities

Anne Stewart, popular Vancouver travel expert, is planning her seventh consecutive trip to the Far East, and her fourth in charge of a personally-conducted tour party.

She will sail with her party from Victoria on the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Russia, July 11, returning in the Empress of Russia, August 25, with numerous side-trips and shore excursions in Japan, China and the Philippines.

Jottings From London Docks

The Orient Line has appointed Capt. G. S. Kennedy as marine superintendent in succession to the late Sir Walter Baynham. The Chamber of Shipping of the United Kingdom has elected as its present, Sir F. Vernon Thompson of London, and as its new vice-president, Sir Richard D. Holt. Col. A. C. Davis, J.P., a member of the Port of London Authority and chairman of the London Chamber of Commerce, has been appointed representative of the chamber on the Thameside and Medway Industrial Development Board.

The fine luxury liner Awatea has been launched at Barrow-in-Furness for the Union Steamship Company of New Zealand. The name means "Eye of the Swan." The new ship is a twin-screw, turbine-driven, oil-fired vessel.

The first shipments to London of lemons from California has just reached the Surrey Commercial Docks. These California lemons are larger than those normally sold in this country. They are of excellent color.

An interesting sketch on Chelsea Old Church (St. Luke's) appears in this month's issue of The P.L.S. Monthly. There is a series running on "Churches in the Port of London." "Although founded in the twelfth century," the story says, "the oldest part of the present edifice dates only from the fourteenth century, with numerous repairs and alterations since then. Here worshipped Sir Thomas More, who added a chapel in 1530. His daughter, Margaret Roper, is buried in the church. Among those buried in the churchyard was Sir Hans Sloane.

"In the rectory nearby lived Charles Kingsley and Henry Kingsley, whose father was rector of the church from 1836 to 1860. The rectory figures in Henry Kingsley's novel "The Hillyars and the Burtons."

Ranpura Freed At Gibraltar

Ship With Chinese Art Treasures Floated After Being Aground Some Days

Gibraltar, April 17.—The British steamship Rampura, with Chinese art treasures valued at $50,000,000 aboard, was finally refloated yesterday evening after being aground on a sandbar here since Tuesday.

The ship was freed by a fleet of tugs after a large portion of the ship's coal and heavy baggage had been removed.

The vessel ran into difficulty outside Gibraltar harbor while enroute to the Orient to return the objects of art loaned for a three month's exhibition in London.

Sir Archibald Cochrane, newly-appointed Governor of Burma, who had intended to leave London today to join the Ranpura at Marseille, has arranged to fly to Calcutta by Imperial Airways. He will leave London April 25, reaching Rangoon May 5, as he had originally planned.

Bluenose Visit Is Not Settled

Vancouver, April 17.—Plans to bring the famous Nova Scotia fishing schooner Bluenose to Vancouver for the Jubilee celebrations have not been definitely arranged and the matter is still being considered, it was stated yesterday by J. K. Matheson, managing director of the Vancouver Golden Jubilee Committee.

"If brought here the boat would be used as a showboat, but it's a question of the guarantee. They want $1,500. The question will come up for further discussion when the jubilee committee meets next Tuesday," said Mr. Matheson, "and will probably be definitely decided then."

Lunenburg, N.S., April 17.—Arrangements to have the famous racing schooner Bluenose sail the waters of the Pacific during Vancouver's jubilee celebrations this summer had not been completed, Captain Angus Walters said here today.

"We haven't heard anything from them for some time now," the fiery skipper of the queen of the North Atlantic fleet board. He was awaiting word from Vancouver before going into the matter further.
